THROUGH THE EYES OF A KNIGHT

Woodlawn, through the eyes of a Knight, is not just a building but a symbol of unification. Through studies, organizations, and activities, WHS unites students in an everlasting friendship. Happy moments, sad moments, excitement of important games, feelings of success—all of these make up the traditions and environments seen at WHS.

Keeping this in mind, the 1968 ACCOLADE has attempted to record with the eye of a camera the happenings that demonstrate the ideals upon which Woodlawn High exists.

Senior Counselor Mrs. Sarah Williams referred to her records and assured Robin Whitfield along with countless other seniors that their high school credits were sufficient for college admission.

Red Cross, Key, Interact, and Z Clubs collected food and toys at Christmas and Thanksgiving for distribution to needy families in the vicinity of WHS.

ACADEMIC

The study of maps was one of the main methods of learning used by the teacher of this World Geography class. Members of the class used the book and wall maps to locate state capitals for a class assignment.

The two-party system helped to bring and keep democratic ways in our government. Here Roger Hornaday explained a poster on the two-party system while Gary Tidwell took notes for preparation of a test in Civics.

Testing was one of the major parts of classroom study for every student of any subject must experience at sometime the taking of a test. Walter Williamson hurried to finish this American History exam before the time was called.

During his three year duration at Woodlawn, each student plays a part in its history. To keep the student aware of the world, both past and present, Woodlawn offers five social studies courses. They are American History, Civics, Economics, World Geography, and World History.

Various methods are used to present information to the members of the classes. These methods include skits, films, field trips, lectures, and discussions.

Students must complete two history courses before graduation. American History, the study of people and events that have influenced the growth and development of our country, gives him a greater understanding and appreciation of our American heritage. Civics is intended to give a sound background in the fundamentals of national, state, and local governments and helps one become more aware of his rights and duties as a citizen.

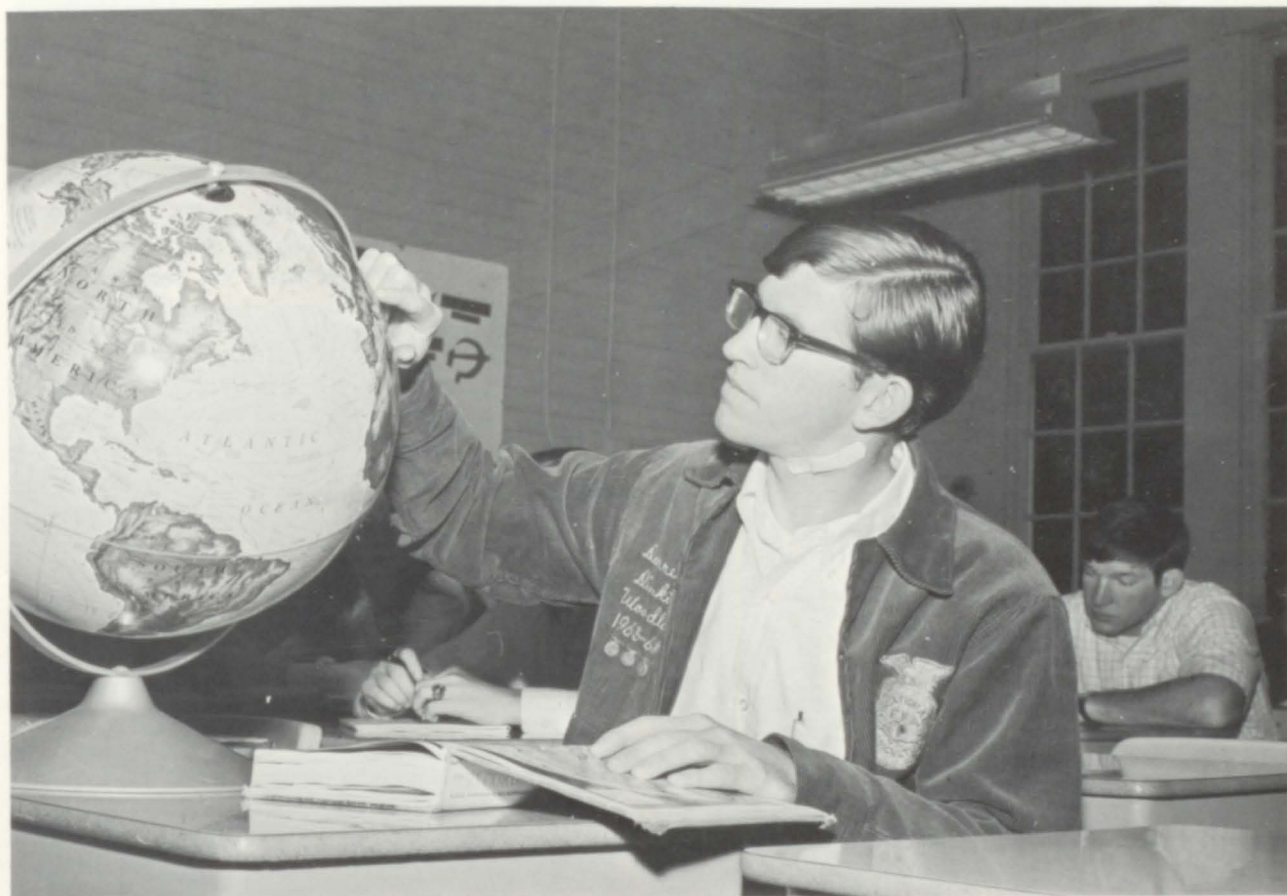

Because a chance is offered to learn about governments, histories, and problems of foreign countries, interested students will find that these courses will prove worthwhile in securing future occupations.

In the study of Economics, students learn the process of buying and selling stock. Ross Montelbane, Dick Thompson, Dale Holland, and Pippy Daspit participate in a skit to learn how the stock exchange works.

Economic Students Visited Stock Exchange

World History familiarizes the student with the world around him. During a class period Darrel Denkins uses the globe as a source of information.

These members of the Clerical Office Practice class, Charolette Veuleman, Marty Godwin, Beverly Patterson, Charlene Barnette, and Pam Heistand, found the newly installed electrical typewriters fascinating and interesting. These machines enabled the students to gain accuracy and speed.

New Course And Equipment In Business

Dictation was one of the major methods of teaching used by teachers of Shorthand I. Mrs. White timed her class as they reached a speed of sixty words per minute.

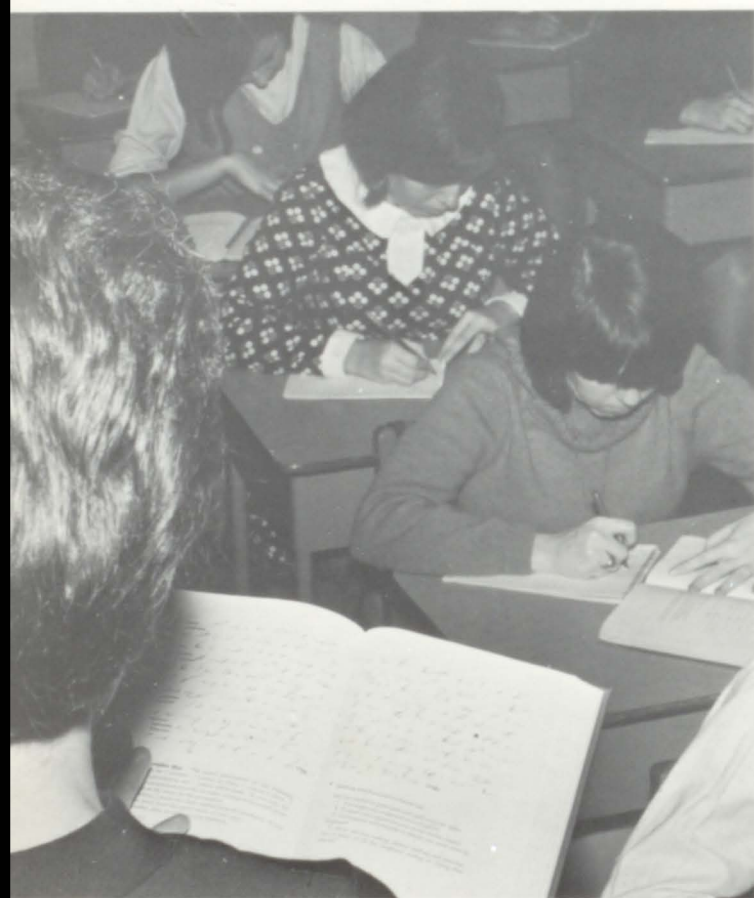

Business is an important factor in today's economy. With seven business courses offered at W.H.S., a student may choose several for personal use or for a career in business.

Typing I is not only a skill for personal use, but also for enjoyment. Following Typing I, a student may become more advanced in this skill by taking Typing II, a new course offered for the first time this year at Woodlawn. This skill is also a prerequisite for Shorthand II and Clerical Office Practice.

Shorthand I helps one in reading and writing Greg shorthand at a minimum acceptable speed. With Shorthand II, a student develops his skills in taking dictation and transcribing the material into mailable form. These two courses give the student an advantage in note-taking and in secretarial work.

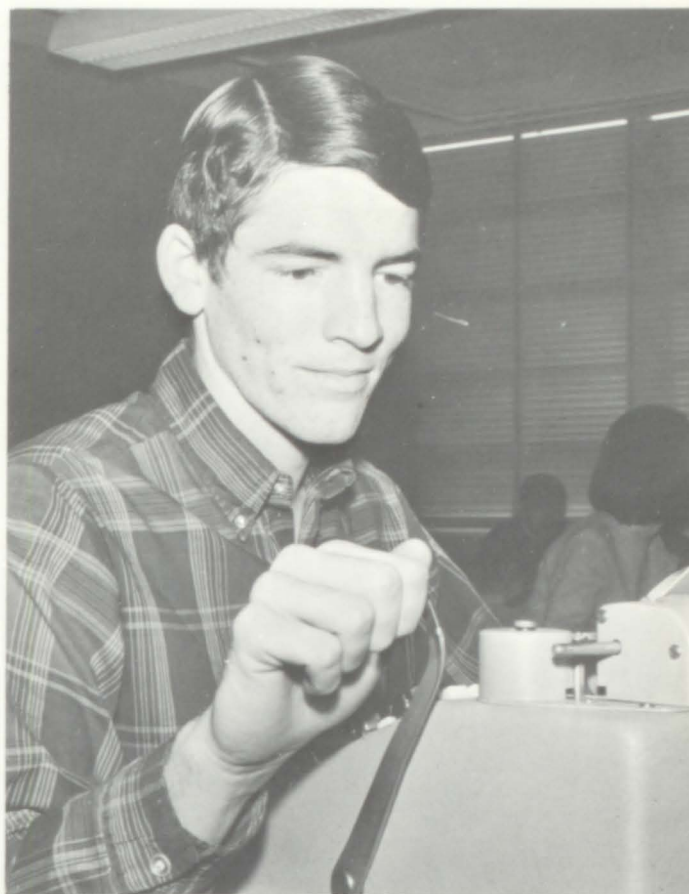

One of the most beneficial subjects taught at Woodlawn is Bookkeeping I. It teaches principles in bookkeeping and accounting. This subject trains girls and boys to be more efficient in business and gives one a fast and efficient way of keeping up with office and home life.

With a foundation of good business skills, one may enter any field in business activity.

To further develop the skills learned in the first year of typing was the purpose of Typing II. Forrest Fairley and Shirley Savelle completed typing assigned in class.

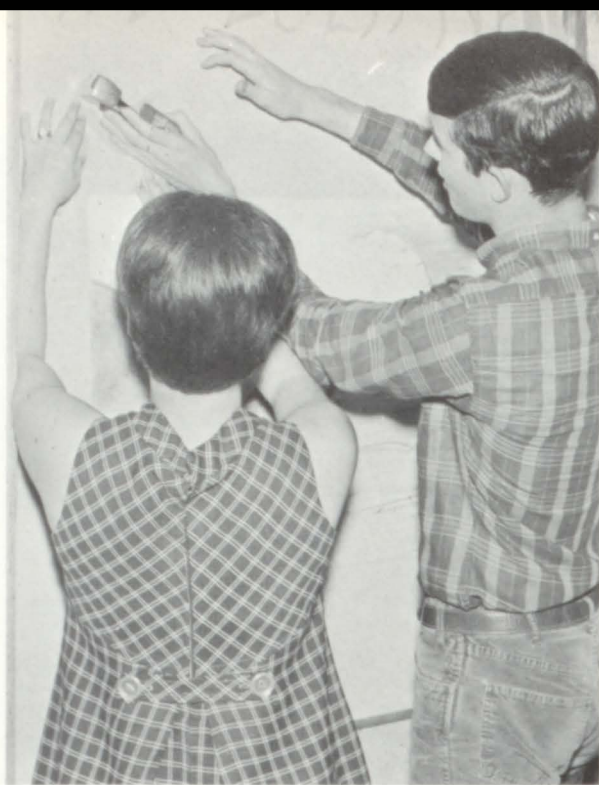

Bob Turner felt that the use of adding machines was one of the more interesting parts of Bookkeeping.

In Typing I, students were taught the keyboard and the basic rules for accurate typing skills. Larry Knight used this knowledge to finish a class assignment.

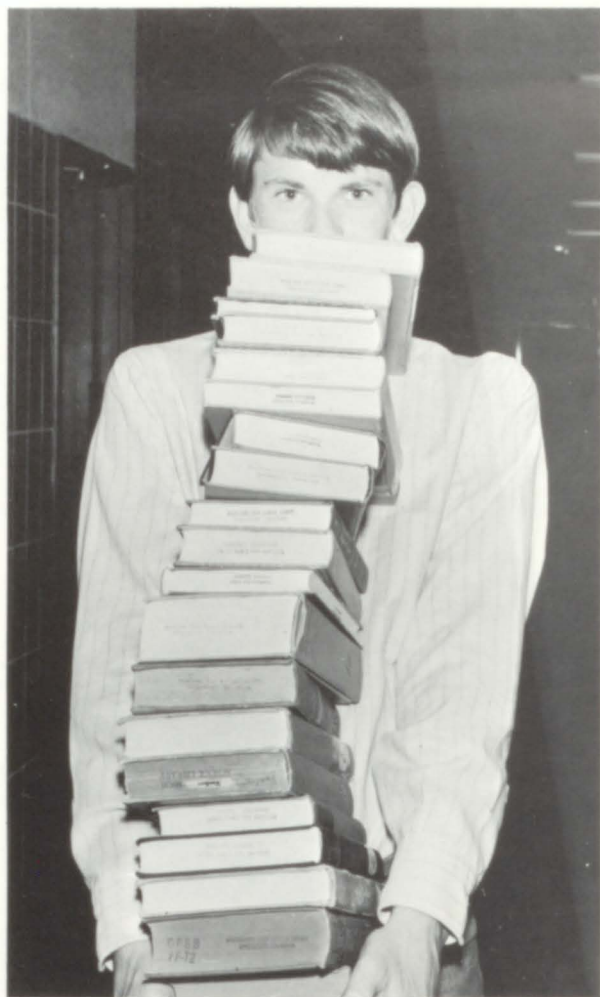

While taking a vocabulary test in Business English, Kathy Cleveland learned it was a major factor in the business world to have a good vocabulary.

During the study of Literature in English II, students enjoyed some "off-the-schedule" reading of The Loch Ness Monster.

English III taught appreciation of American Literature to eager students. The study of Edgar Allan Poe held the interest of Jim Hodge as he prepared a bulletin board for Mrs. Greene. Kathy Ferguson held the cover to the recording of "The Raven."

Books made good reading, but also they were a heavy load. Tim Brown demonstrates this to be true as he returned them to the school library from an English IV class.

Concentrating on a spelling test was Bruce Readhimer in English III. He learned that correct spelling was a major factor in today's world.

English is perhaps the most important subject taught at Woodlawn because it is connected with all phases of one's life. A student who wants to get ahead in today's world must have an understanding of grammar, must be able to read and to comprehend what he has read, and must be able to express himself so others can understand him.

A Knight begins his three-year study of English by learning the fundamental rules of grammar and develops these rules more extensively in the next two years. English II provides him with the study of such classics as Julius Caesar and Silas Marner. A Squire acquires a love and appreciation of our heritage as seen in American Literature. In his last year of English, a Knight develops further the knowledge he has already acquired by doing research on a paper.

Before graduation, a Woodlawn student must have completed four units in the English curriculum. Speech or Business English may be substituted in the fourth year for those who plan not to attend college.

Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" was an example of the American Literature studied in English III. Here Dick Barnard narrated his class's presentation of the play.

Books Made Good Reading But Heavy Load

"Julius Caesar" was studied by all English II students in their sophomore year. Gary Shovan, who portrayed Julius Caesar, and Rhonda Elder, Caesar's wife, dramatized a scene from the Shakespearean play.

The task of writing a research paper must be completed by every Knight before his graduation. Steve Coleman began taking notes for his paper during class.

David Legan proudly displays the second-placed trophy won in the Sweepstakes Tournament in the Individual Section.

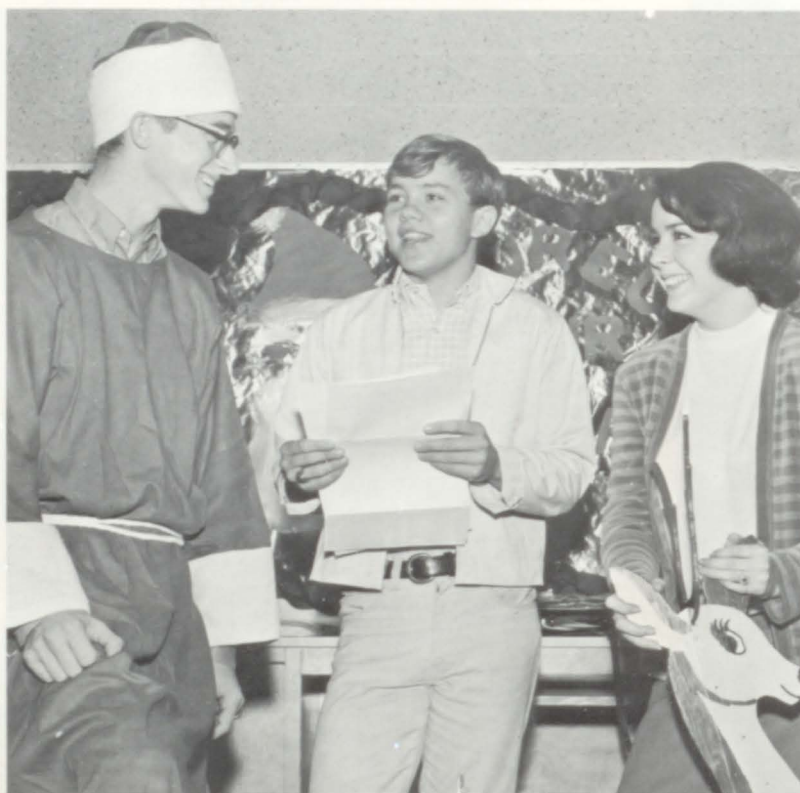

Shirley Feazel and Dick Thompson discussed material for a debate while in their Speech III class.

Spanish I presented to the student the basic fundamentals of grammar and literature of this foreign language. Jimmie Habans showed some of the more important Spanish figures studied during the year.

"Oui," said David Legan to Buddy Johnson, who portrays the French Santa Claus as Lucy Pringle looked on. The members of the French II classes presented this skit at the Christmas meeting of the French Club.

Concentration seemed to be written on the face of Martha Connel as she studied grammar in her Spanish I book. In this course, students were taught the basic rules of Spanish grammar and literature.

French Classes Presented Christmas Plays

In order to communicate in the world today, a person must obtain a deeper knowledge of the people and their cultures. French, Latin, Spanish, and Speech are the four communication courses offered at the Castle.

To broaden his knowledge, Woodlawn now provides a student a third unit of French. This enables him to develop further the basic rules of grammar and gives him the chance to study more extensively the French plays, stories, and poetry.

Even though Latin has often been called the "dead language", it has many valuable assets.

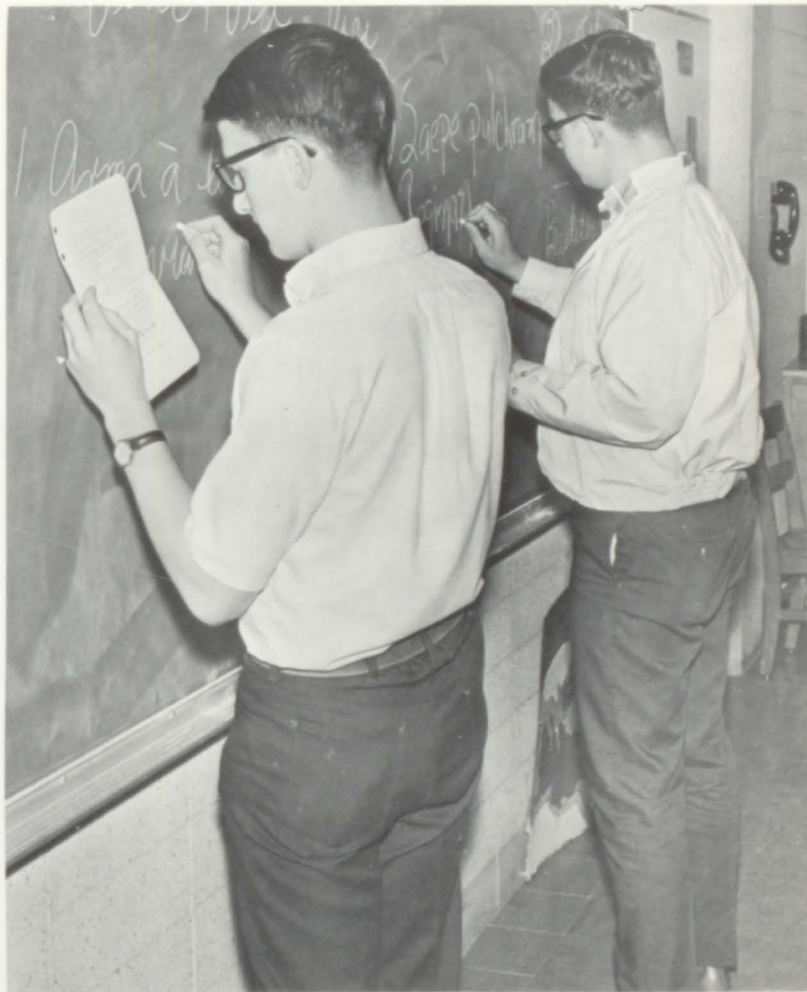

Latin is necessary for a Knight who wishes to enter the fields of law or medicine.

In the teaching of Spanish, oral drills seem to be the most effective in helping the student to speak the language more fluently.

Speech gives the student a basic training for public speaking and debates. Those in drama participate in tournaments of poetry interpretation, drama interpretation, and humorous interpretation. These tournaments give the debaters the opportunity to meet many new and interesting people from other schools in the state of Louisiana.

"History of the American Flag" was the topic chosen by Linda Loper for an informative speech given in Speech II. The members of the class also gave demonstration and impromptu speeches and debates.

One of the things a beginner learned in Latin I was how to construct a grammar sentence into Latin. Jimmy Kellog and Bill Wisby took their turn in doing a Latin sentence.

By helping a young girl prepare for the future in the management of her home and helping her to run it more efficiently, Woodlawn offers four electives in this field. They are Home Economics I, II, III and Home and Family Living, which also helps a young boy become acquainted with the basic rules of managing a home.

Home Economics I helps a girl learn the skill techniques of food and the preparation of simple meals. It also acquaints a girl with the basic clothing constructions and patterns by making a simple dress. Then to further advance herself in these skills, she is offered Home Economics II and III. It includes the study of child care development from the ages of one to six.

Home and Family Living is desirable because it helps young people to acquire good personal attitudes and feelings which will lead them to successful family and home life.

Christmas was a special season for all. One of the phases of this season was the decorating. Here Jan Creech and Peggy Hill prepared choir boys from cardboard and construction paper for their Home Economics Christmas project.

Home Economics Proved Popular Course

Cutting and sewing patterns to create clothing was one of the many phases taught in Home Economics. Ginny Smith pinned her pattern to the material before she began cutting on it.

Cindy Whitley made sure her table setting display was correct by using a Home Economics book for her reference.

Checking to see if there was enough water in the pressure cooker was Jo Ann Norman. Cooking is one of the major units taught in all three Home Economics courses.

Admiring a table setting and making sure each piece is in the correct place were Debbie Dutton, Pat Crowley, and Gayle Robinette.

Charlotte Giddens displays a dress she made in Home Economics to Dedra Evans. Students in Home Economics must construct and complete a garment for a term project.

Carrie Cox volunteered as the model for her classmates to draw in Art.

The Art Department at Woodlawn acquaints a student with the materials used in artwork thus developing better understanding and appreciation of fine arts. Students become skilled in many art medias such as ceramics, charcoals, colors and weaving. Students must study much history and background of this subject before assignments or research is given to them.

For the first time this year the Art Department has a new material known as acrylic, which is a plastic paint that can be used thick like oils or thin like water colors leaving a color which is true and non-fading.

The Art Department at W.H.S. provides harmony and color complementing the academic courses in the student's life. The students design and create decorations for the Accolade Pageant and for the musicals held here.

With courses in Art, the opportunities for a career range from the teaching field as well as Commercial Advertising for television and furniture stores.

The Art Department is under the direction of Mrs. Tommie Simmons, who finds that discussion and demonstration are her best methods of teaching the student this skill.

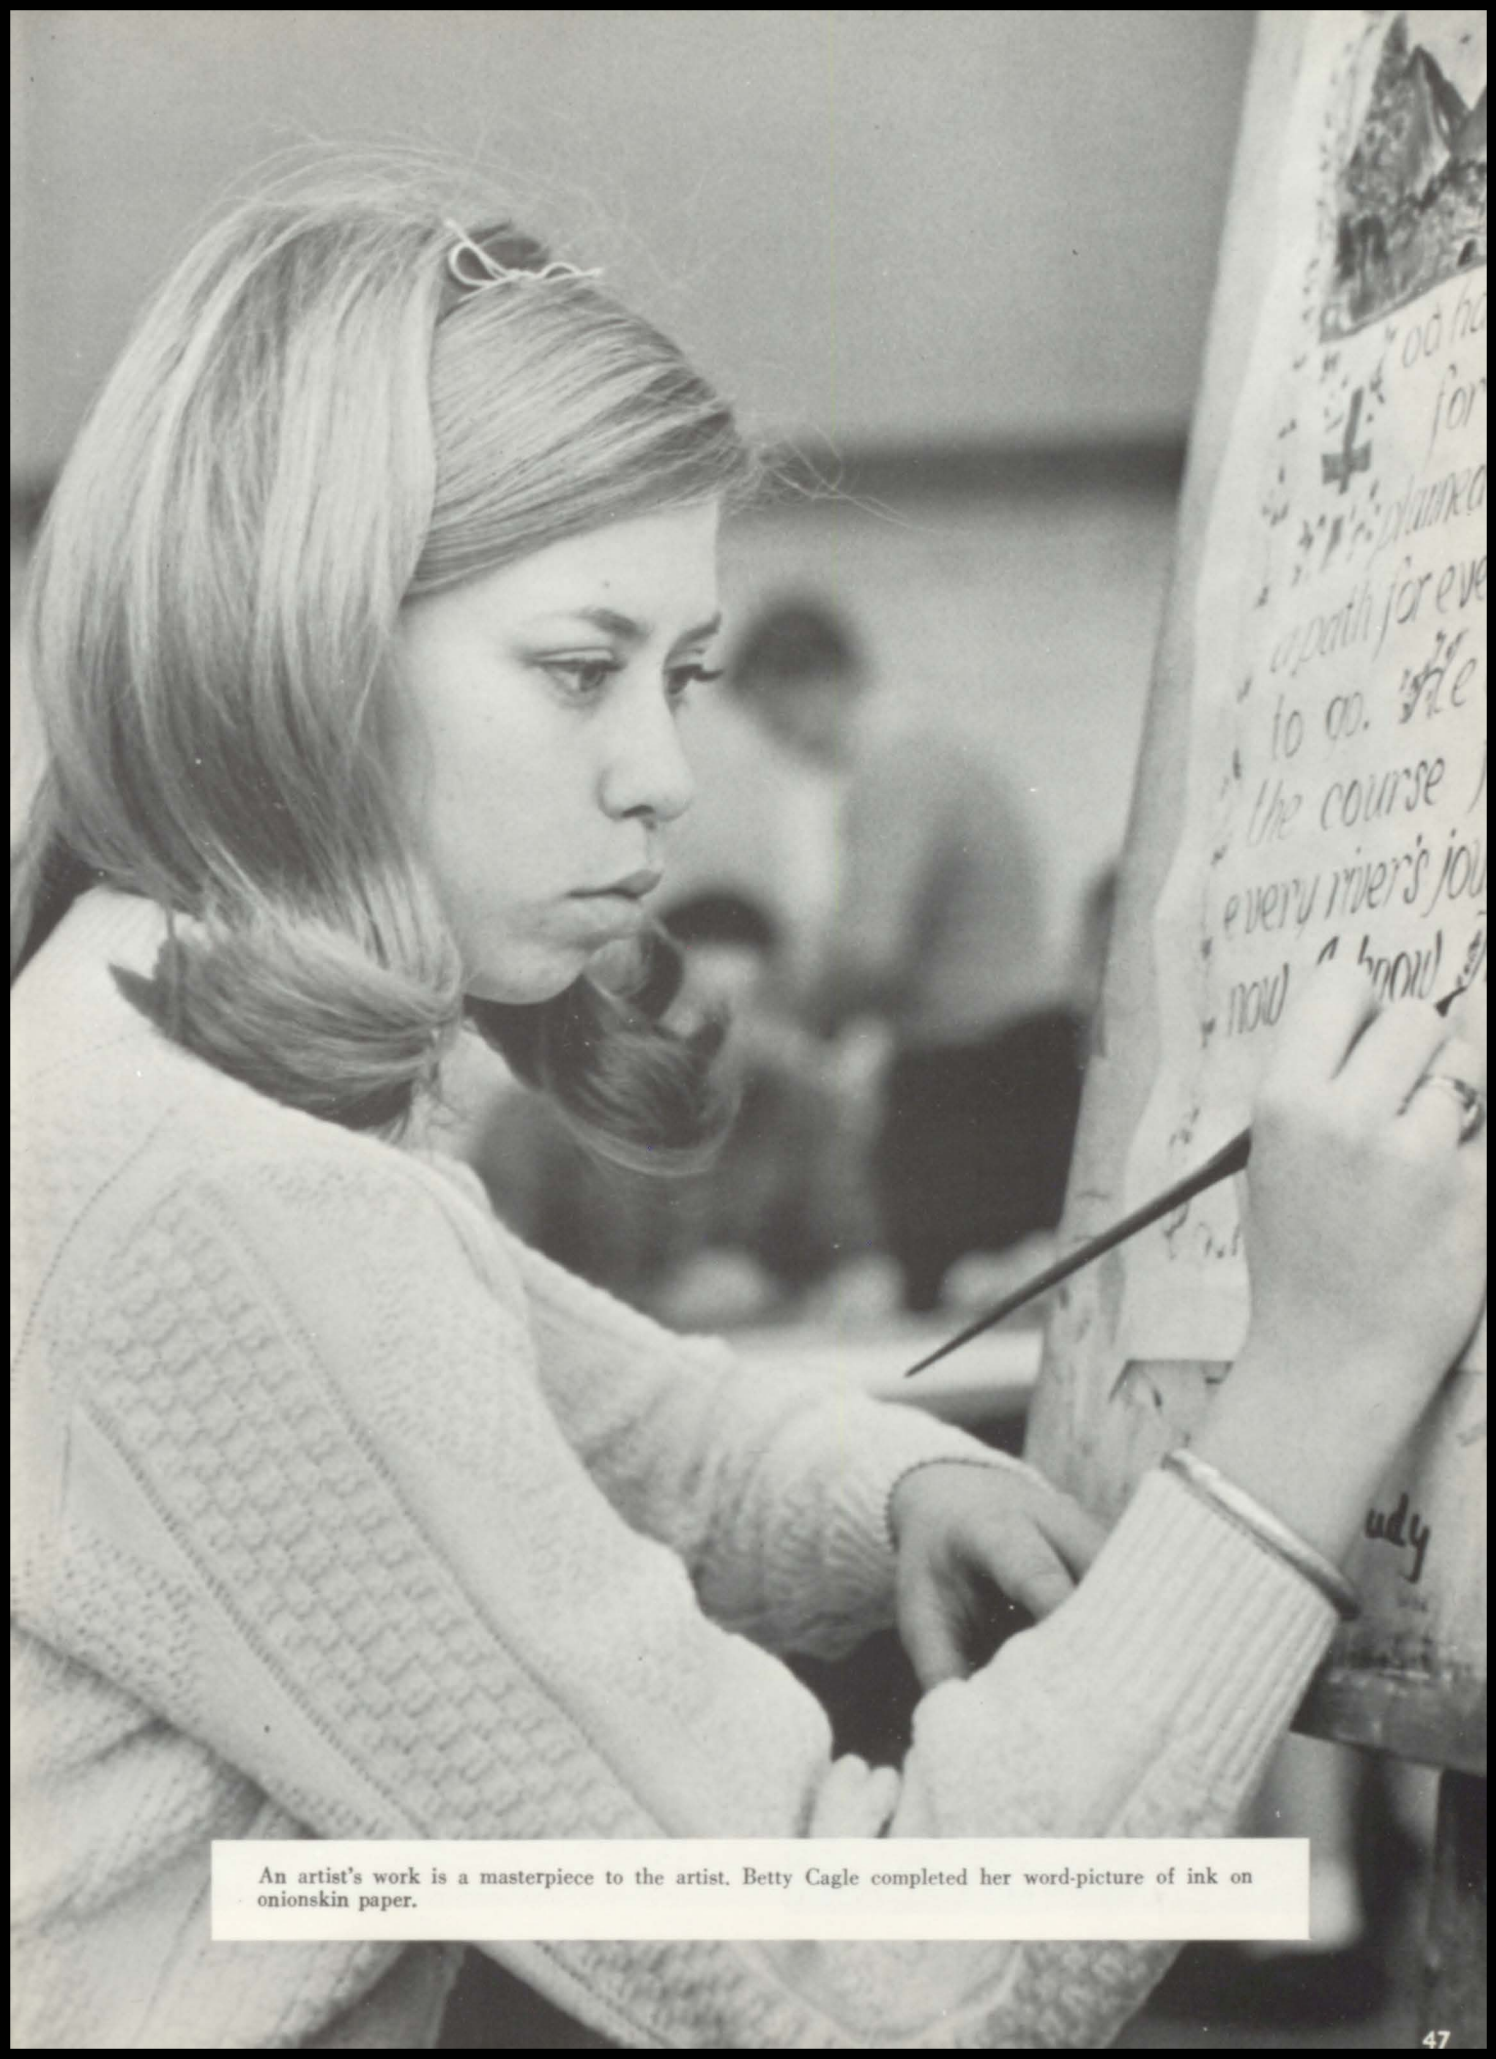

New Material, Acrylic, Introduced

One of the more fascinating instruments used in Art I today is the Electric Potter's wheel. Ronnie Morgan completed a vase for his project in Ceramic work.

Students of Art often used human models for class assignments. Sketches were first done in pencil and then the colors or charcoals were added.

An artist's work is a masterpiece to the artist. Betty Cagle completed her word-picture of ink on onionskin paper.

In Woodwork I, students learned how to safely apply the basic fundamentals in the use of power machinery. Here Gary Simpson used a wood lathe to put the finishing touches on a lamp base.

Electronics prepared the students for numerous jobs in the future. Billy Shaffer and Larry Blevins tested speakers from an old radio.

Variety Of Elective Courses

Protective face masks were worn by students of Woodwork to keep sawdust and other objects from their skin. Jack Horn used the powersaw to cut designs in a plaque.

To round out a student's curriculum several electives add variety to his day at Woodlawn. The elective courses that have hand skills to them are Mechanical Drawing, Power Mechanics, and Woodwork. An elective offered at W.H.S. that is a basis for countless careers is electronics. This course prepares one for employment after graduation or for further technical education by familiarizing him with the theories and the principles concerning electronics.

For the student who is planning to follow a career in any type of agricultural activity, W.H.S. offers him a course in Agriculture as an elective. It is college preparatory for the student seeking further instruction in this field. Woodlawn had three boys place first in the Louisiana State Poultry Judging Contest this year and is the first to hold Agricultural skill contests.

By aiding these students in these courses, many activities are planned, such as field trips to local industries, drawing competitions at Art Fairs, and contests in agricultural skills.

Motor Mechanics I students, Ricky Reeves, Joe Ferguson, Otis Poe, and Wayne Cockerham demonstrated what they had learned during the past year as they dismantle a three-horse power motor.

Offered To Students Of Woodlawn

From the Agricultural classes, Buster Flowers, Larry Spruell, and Terry Frazier performed an experiment on the soil by adding chemicals to it with the aid of Mr. McKinnon.

Students in a Chemistry class worked to arrange the activity series while in the lab. Lab study was the most enjoyable part of Chemistry by many students.

Skeleton Used For Bone Structure Study

Performing a "torque" experiment were Glen White, Ricky Reeves, and Bruce Turk in a Physics class. Mr. Harris listened carefully when a student asked him a question concerning the experiment.

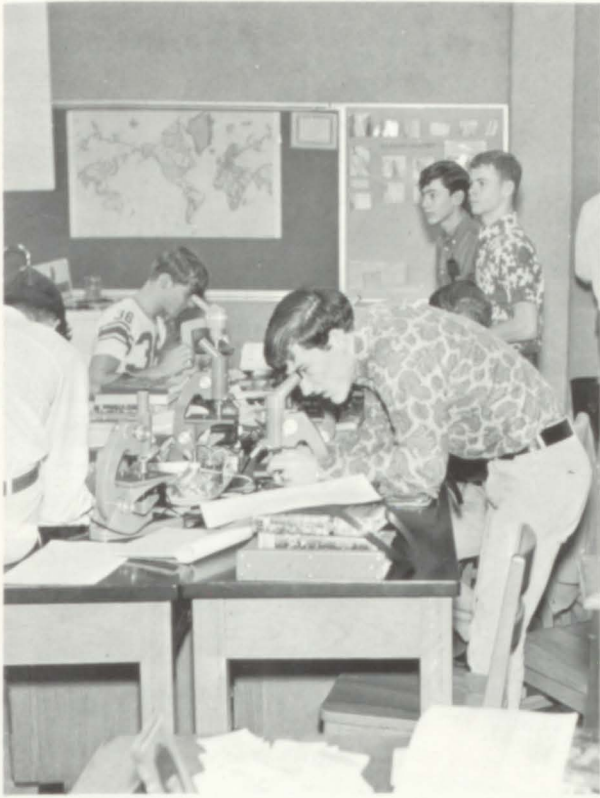

One of the more important phases of our curriculum at W.H.S. is instructing the student in various phases of the natural sciences. From the four courses offered, which are Biology, Chemistry, General Science, and Physics, only two are required for graduation.

The General Science student is kept busy by his study of all the sciences. Biology gives one a better understanding of life around him.

To stimulate a student's interest and his desire to learn, two advanced courses are offered. Chemistry is offered to those who wish to have a better understanding of the chemical make-up of matter and its activity. Algebra I is a prerequisite to this course. Students feel the laboratory work is the most enjoyable part of this course.

With the knowledge of these courses, it enables the student to have a possible career in the world of science.

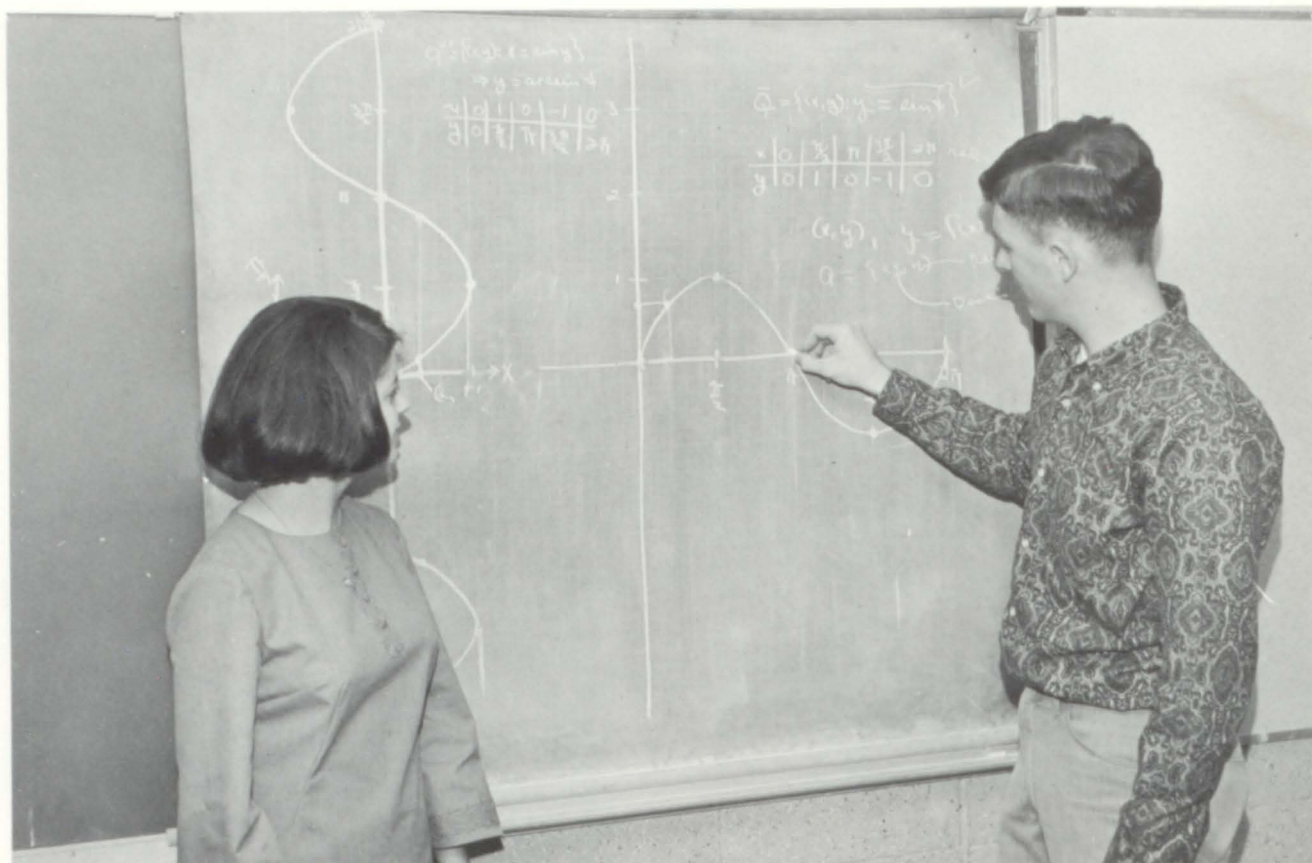

Students of a biology class used microscopes to view different micro-organisms. After viewing the organisms they drew them on special paper.

Mrs. Hicks stopped to explain the circulation of blood to some of her General Science students.

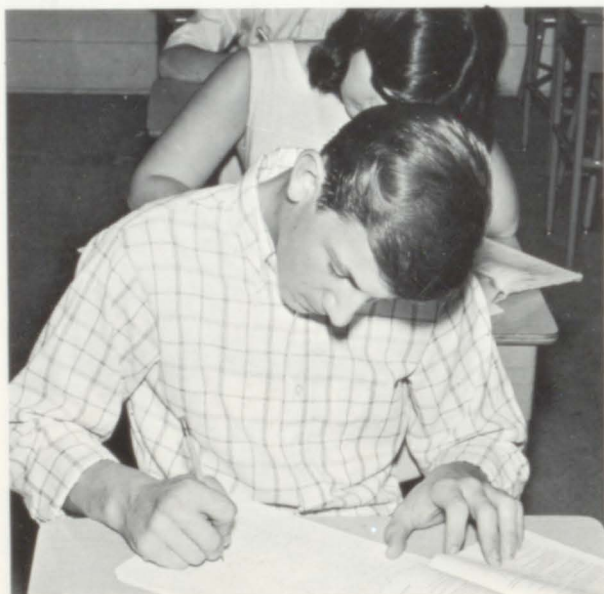

ABOVE: During a study of the body in biology, Larry Leonie pointed out to the class the bones that make up the skeleton.

Dan Lucas showed Susan Skinner, on a pre-drawn board graph, the inverse of the sine function. This graph was often used by members of the advanced math classes for a large-scale view of graphs.

Overhead Projector Used In Math Classes

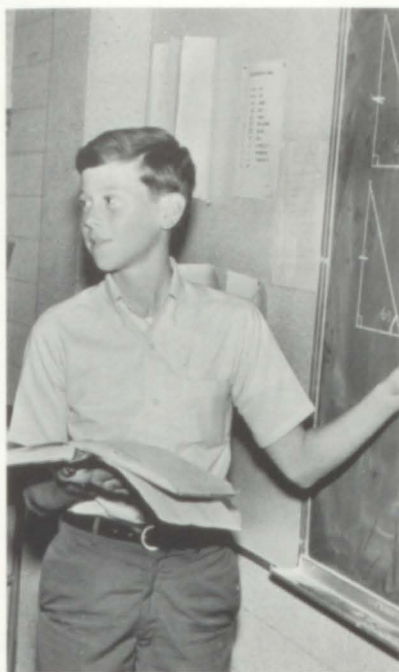

A great deal of study and concentration was the requirement for this General Math class as is for all courses concerning the use of numerals. Danny Robinson used both concentration and knowledge to finish this speed test on skill in fractions.

At W.H.S., the Math department offers a well-rounded program of mathematics in order to give the student a foundation of logic and study which is necessary in all walks of life. The course is necessary for college bound or vocation bound students. To graduate, one must have completed two math courses.

The courses offered at Woodlawn for a non-college bound student are Business Math and General Math. These two round out his basic math needs. They enable him to solve everyday problems and carry on, his financial needs. For the college-bound student, W.H.S. offers four advanced courses which give a higher understanding of mathematics. They are Advanced Math, Algebra I and II, and Geometry. After graduation he will have the necessary requirements to enter any college or university.

To aid the instructors in streamlining the teaching of math, the over-head projector is being used. This helps the student to fully understand the course and have an accurate picture of his studies.

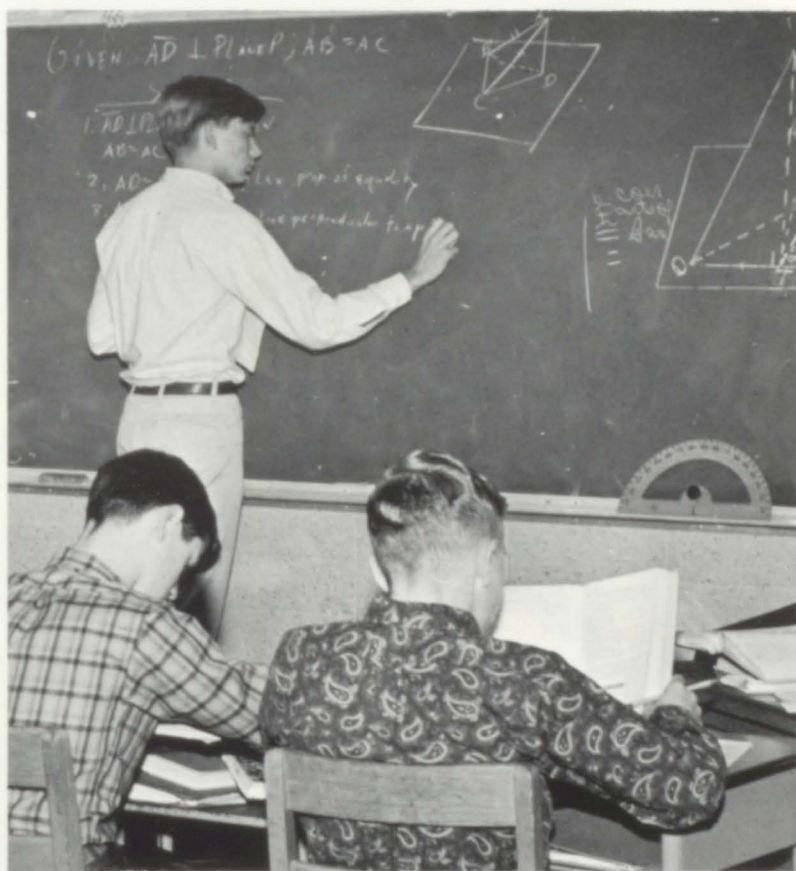

David Alfred uses the aid of his book to demonstrate a problem on the board for view by members of the geometry class.

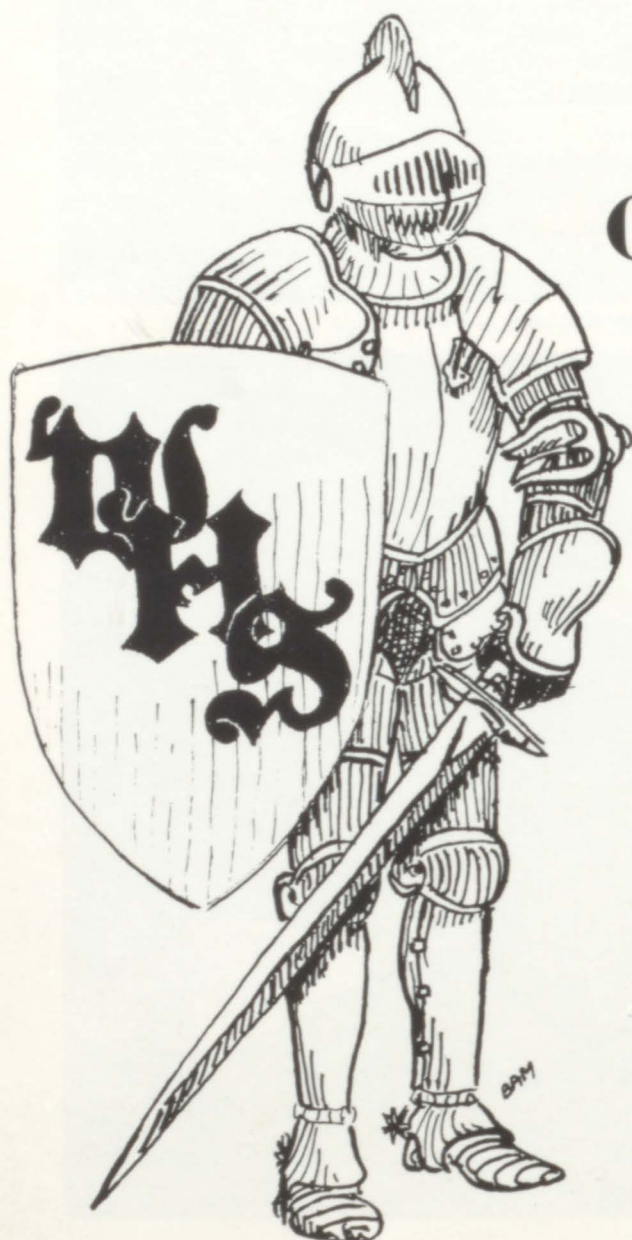

Mr. Lonnie Dunn, during an Algebra II class, showed Dick Barnard the parts of a cone, which is used to demonstrate the conic sections.

Trying to explain a problem to Ricky Hickingbottom was Mrs. Petteway, a Business Math teacher. Business Math was one of the many Math courses offered at Woodlawn.

The use of the board as a large scale view of problems has proved to be one of the most beneficial materials available in schools today. Members of Mr. Hale's geometry class worked on the proof of a problem as John Craft puts it on the board for further discussion and study.

For Knight's Ball

Mike Morgan, Student Council President, led the Council as it represented the student body by planning and executing school projects and social events.

With the supervision of Mrs. Alice Richardson, Student Council Advisor, Student Council members Benny Mobley, Duane Ebarb, Dan Kelly, Linda Dahmer, and Herman Garner cut ballots for a school election.

"I vote that red and blue is the best."

"No, that's used all the time!"

"Well? What do you expect? They are our school colors."

Decorating for the Homecoming dance in November and the Knights Ball in February were just two of the Student Council's many duties, and deciding what color the decorations should be was certainly not their only decision to make during the year.

Supervising and conducting chapel services, handling elections, sponsoring student buses to out-of-town football games, and changing the bulletin board display regularly outside the library are just a few of their many duties.

Giving a tour of Woodlawn to new Castlites is done not only during sophomore orientation, but throughout the year for new students. Hospitality is also shown to the teachers at the annual tea held in their honor.

Sponsoring the school store and conducting special assemblies about citizenship and beautification aid both the school and community.

Patsy Hollowell, Editor, and Mrs. Maredia Bowden, Sponsor, worked with the other Herald staff members to produce the school newspaper, a credit to Woodlawn.

Named the number one high school sports writer in Louisiana, Dale Holland was responsible for the sports coverage of Woodlawn's athletic achievements in the Herald.

About Castle Life

"How'd you know?!!"

"Well, I read it in the paper. The Woodlawn High School newspaper. The Woodlawn High School Herald, of course!"

In publishing eight editions of the Herald, the Herald Editorial Staff promoted school spirit through the use of editorials, club news, sports coverage, and occasional contests; in effect, by publicizing all facets of student life, both concerned with the school and community.

Using knowledge gained by serving as a reporter for a full school year, the eleven editors did a fine job directing this year's reporters and making sure that all parts of school life were covered on the "beats".

Mrs. Maredia Bowden, new sponsor of the Herald this year, said about her job, "It was an experience never to be forgotten; the editors were the best I could have ever hoped for."

Dale Holland, sports editor, was named the number one high school sports writer in Louisiana.

Herald Editor-in-Chief, Patsy Hollowell, kept busy coordinating the many activities necessary for publication of Woodlawn's school newspaper.

WHS To Have Paper

Enabling Woodlawn to have a school newspaper, the Herald Ad Staff members began selling ads to Shreveport businesses during the hot month of June. After completing the contracts, they had to plan the advertising layouts for the eight editions of the Herald, and bill and collect the money from those who bought an ad.

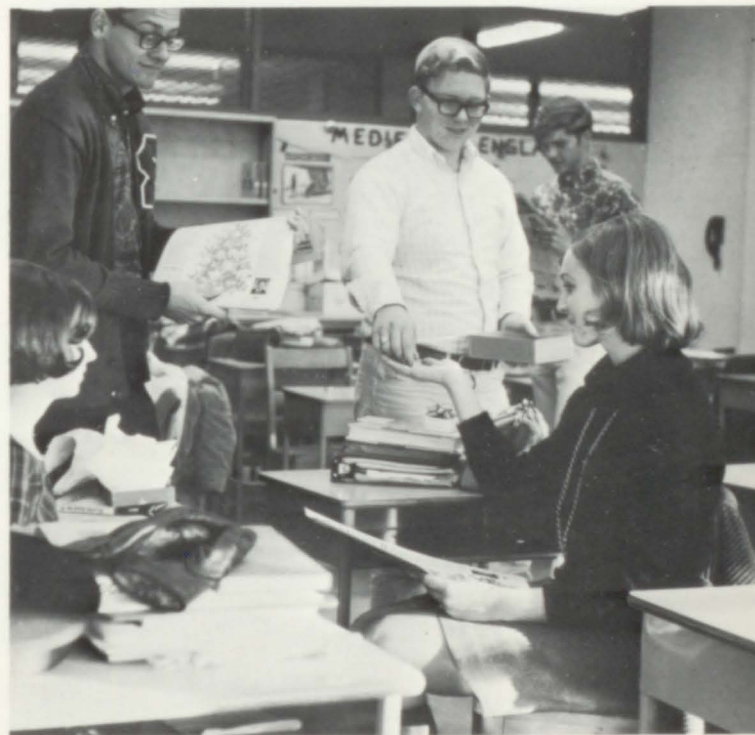

Journalism students are the Herald reporters who run their "beats" and write the stories. The stories are then read by the Herald sponsor and staff, and if approved, appear in the Herald. The reporters then double as the circulation staff on sale dates.

Two spring events eagerly anticipated are the annual Publications Banquet and induction into Quill and Scroll for those members of both staffs who meet the requirements of the honorary journalism society.

Mrs. Margaret Kirkland sponsored the Herald Ad Staff, and Mrs. Maredia Bowden advised the reporters.

Yearbook Staff Received New Sponsor

"But, Mrs. Farless, it's just two weeks till my deadline, and I can't draw those layouts if I don't have the pictures for them, and without the pictures I can't write the cutlines, and if the layouts aren't drawn and the cutlines aren't written, I can't possibly get the copy sheets finished!"

This plaintive cry echoes forth from room 211 several times each year, and this past year was no exception.

Though working on the Accolade is a hard job, especially around the one deadline time that falls during midterm exams, it is a lot of fun and it is considered an honor to be a staff member.

Approved by the past year's members on character, personality, and dependability, then again by the sponsor, other teachers, and the office, students entrusted with the job of compiling the Accolade are quite capable of their task.

Enlarged by one member this year, the staff was made up of 14 students and the new advisor, Mrs. Lyn Farless. Ten of the members were new to the staff this year.

Accolade Staff Sold Ads During Summer

"It's so much fun, though hard work, and it gives me a good feeling knowing I'm helping my school."

Eligibility for becoming a member of Quill and Scroll, attending the Publications Banquet in the spring, meeting the public, learning poise and self-confidence, boosting one's school spirit and pride in Woodlawn, and simply meeting new situations and having fun doing it—all of these were reasons of different girls for joining the Accolade Ad Staff.

During the hot month of August and again in September staff workers sold ads to help finance the 1968 Accolade.

Without this year's 19 ad staff members, it would have been virtually impossible to have had published a book of this size and quality.

Qualifications necessary are at least a "C" average, recommendations by teachers, and approval by vote of the past year's staff members.

RIGHT: Sharon Santos, Dianne McGraw, Sheri Parnell, and Ad Staff Manager Cathy McCullers, sold ads last summer to finance the 1968 Accolade.

Circulation Staff Publicized Sale

Publicizing the sale of yearbooks in the fall, selling them in each homeroom, handling all money from the four sales, and distributing the finished product in the spring was the Accolade Circulation Staff's job.

Chosen by the previous year's staff members, members are eligible to belong to Quill and Scroll after a year of being on the staff.

The Publications Banquet is attended by members in the Spring.

Football Program Largest In State

"Some program! Looks more like a book to me!"

Such exclamations of wonder were common throughout the football season as fans bought the largest high school football program in the state, consisting of 68 pages for the regular-season program.

The Homecoming edition contained 76 pages, the quarterfinal play-off program was 36 pages long, and the semi-final play-off "book", which featured a full color picture of the football team, was comprised of 40 pages.

Over 12,000 programs were sold during the season, all of which were the largest in the Castle's history. The programs were "sold out" at all the games.

Chosen by the graduating staff with faculty approval, staff members must have a "C" average, senior standing, and a solid, dependable character.

Key Clubbers Furthered School Spirit

"Would you like to buy a Woodlawn license plate or window decal?"

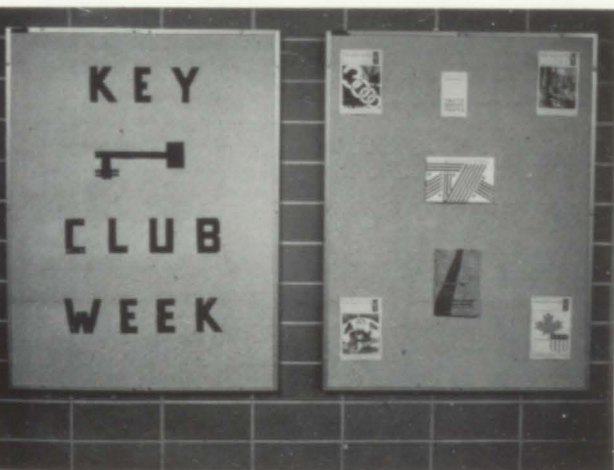

Furthering school spirit, the Key Club sold Woodlawn mementos, made posters for games, and gave a breakfast for the football and basketball teams.

They made fruit baskets for the needy at Thanksgiving and Christmas, collected toys for less fortunate children, and collected for the March of Dimes and Salvation Army.

A Father Appreciation Banquet, Christmas Party, and a party at Wallace Lake were also held.

Key Club Week was promoted by the Key Club in several ways; this bulletin board was put up in front of the library.

Spirit Posters Made By Interact Club

Believing in service on the local, state, national and international levels, the Interact Club continued working on their many beneficial service projects throughout the year.

In order to promote wholesome competition between the various school clubs, the Interact Club began making spirit posters for the football games; soon virtually all organizations were turning out bigger and bigger posters, trying to "out-do" each other.

Other good-will projects were helping Mayor Clyde E. Fant with the "Lock Your Car" campaign in Shreveport, collecting for the Lukemia Drive, and selling poppies for the disabled American veterans.

The Woodlawn chapter also hosted the District Convention.

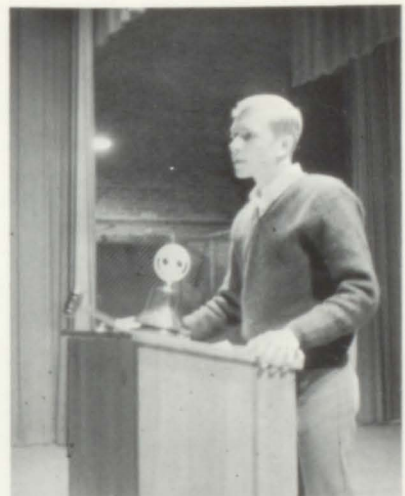

Rotating each week, members attended a luncheon of the South Shreveport Rotary Club, with their sponsor, each Tuesday.

Science And Math Club Reached Goals

Through stimulating discussions at regular meetings advisors Miss Marie Maranto and Mr. Charles McLain try to acquaint members of the Science and Math Club with the many opportunities they have in the fields of mathematics and science and help them realize how to achieve their goals pertaining to their interest in these fields.

Though field trips have been somewhat limited due to other school-related functions, club members did take a tour of the AMF Beaird plant here in Shreveport.

Requirements for membership are a C+ overall grade average and a genuine interest in the fields of either science or math or both. "A genuine interest in these fields is necessary," stated Miss Maranto, "or the student will more than likely soon lose interest in the meetings."

Safety Council Checked Car Stickers

BELOW: Safety Council Officer, Duane Ebarb, checked student cars to see that they had Woodlawn parking stickers, which were issued by the Safety Council.

Organized to cooperate in the development of an appropriate youth safety organization under the supervision of the parish schools, Woodlawn's Safety Council has done much to further safety in the school and community.

This was done by posting fire and tornado drill information in each classroom, and holding both kinds of drills regularly throughout the year, trying to improve the time it took to either clear the buildings or have those involved in the appropriate hallways.

The Council sold parking stickers in the fall, and later during the year began checking all cars in the parking lot to make sure they had authorization to park in them. Those cars without stickers were given a notice; if after three notices they still didn't get a sticker, they were reported to the office.

Other projects were checking the fire extinguishers and having one-way traffic in the halls for a week.

This year, for the first time in the club's history, representatives and alternates for Safety Council were the same as those for Student Council.

Members of the Castle's Red Cross worked on local and community projects during the year, serving those who were less fortunate than others. Believing in service for others became an actuality as the Woodlawn High School Council of the American Red Cross attempted to carry out its pledge by collecting canned foods during the weeks before Christmas, and distributing them to needy families.

Orders for the giant mum Homecoming corsages were taken, delivered to the school by the florist on the day of the Bossier football game, and distributed by the Red Cross.

Student directories, which listed the name, classification, address, and telephone number of each student, were compiled and sold for fifty cents, as another school service project.

Representatives and alternates were chosen from each home room by their classmates and attended meetings when held during first period.

Z Club Placed Second Internationally

During the Inaugural Banquet of the Northwood High School Z Club, the Woodlawn chapter was presented a trophy for second place in the international competition for service.

Living up to its standards of being of service to school, community, and nation, and promoting fellowship and understanding among all people of the world, they rated high both internationally and locally.

To help further school spirit, they made posters for games and gave the football team a breakfast.

DE Club Members Received Training

"Earn while you learn", an unofficial slogan of the Distributive Education Club, describes both the goals of the club and the distributive education program.

Under the supervision of Mr. Frank Sanders and Mr. Clyde Self, the organization strives to prepare junior and senior Castlites for a place in the business world after graduation.

Students receive an on-the-job grade and get paid for their work; they attend school half a day and work in the afternoon.

Socii Romani Held Interlingual Party

"Socii Romani", the Woodlawn Latin Club, is a member of both the State and National Junior Classical League.

Members of the club, through programs featuring skits and speakers, learned many things about the Latin Language, the people who spoke it, and the land in which it flourished for centuries.

Mrs. Mary Curlin, a former Latin teacher at the Castle, spoke and showed slides to club members at a special meeting held in November.

Members also attended the annual Interlingual Christmas Party with the French and Spanish clubs, and a Latin convention in New Orleans March 8-9 at the Jung Hotel.

FTA Sponsored Annual Teachers Day

"To view the classroom situation—students, problems, light moments, test days—from the other side of the desk!" That was Mrs. Yvonne Strattman's emphatic answer to the question, "What does the FTA try to teach its members?"

She then went on, becoming more serious, and said, "... to better inform students of opportunities provided in higher education and careers related to education."

College requirements for teacher education were discussed by counselor, Mrs. Randle Geisler. In November, the Woodlawn FTA was hostess to the District IV FTA meeting at which Mr. Roscoe White, for whom the Castle's FTA was named, spoke.

Some members ushered at the Louisiana Teachers Association Vesper service held in November, and some attended the FTA Convention in April at Baton Rouge.

Future Farmers Continued WHS Tradition

Danny Sandifer, senior FFA member, looked over this truck and examined its good and bad points for use on a farm. This FFA field trip gave the boys an opportunity to judge tractors and farm trucks for themselves.

Another FFA member, Thomas Ingram, was interested in this large truck which was on display at the Fair Grounds.

Boys Rated High In National Contest

Continuing the Castle's tradition of honors received, members of the FFA placed high in regional, state, and national competition this past year.

W. C. Thompson and Robert Melton both received the State Farmer Degree.

Placing high in state competition were Rex Jennings, who placed fourth in Soil and Water Conservation, Donnie Parks who received a third place rating in Home Improvement, and Dan Cotton who received a third place rating in Farm Mechanics.

Robert Melton took top honors by placing first in state competition in Ornamental Horticulture.

The Woodlawn Poultry Team, composed of George Cubley, Mike McDonald, and Danny Sandifer, won first place in the Area I contest, and went on to capture first place in the state contest. Representing Louisiana at the national contest held in Kansas City, Missouri, they placed eleventh in the nation and were awarded a bronze plaque.

Possessing a true interest in the study of agriculture, members of the Future Farmers of America work towards developing leadership in their field and an appreciation of rural life.

4-H'ers Strived To Better Selves

The primary purpose of 4-H is to develop interested boys and girls into useful citizens with worthy purposes in life.

4-H joins with the school, church, and community in the project of this development, with intentions of helping its members become finer individuals.

Learning by doing is the 4-H way; by giving loyal service to their fellow man they further develop their minds and bodies, physically, mentally, and spiritually.

"To make the best better," their official motto, best describes the club's goals.

Members must select and complete at least one project during the year, keep a record of the projects, and turn in a Record Book at the end of the year. Members should be interested in both the projects and goals, and be eager to learn.

The group met on the second Wednesday of each month after school to hear talks and demonstrations, and discuss projects.

Los Alegres Aided Needy Mexicans

Contributing to the organization's goal of promoting an interest in and a better understanding of Spanish-speaking people, Kenny Williams and his father took favors and toys to a remote Mexican village, San Antonio, Mexico, to bring happiness and friendship during the Christmas season.

Karen Hall, in another program, showed slides which were taken in a Mexican village where her father had been caring for the sick.

Los Alegres, Le Cercle Francais, and Socii Romani held their annual Interlingual Christmas banquet at a Big Chain cafeteria.

No specific qualifications are necessary for joining Los Alegres, "The Happy Ones", except that one must have taken or be taking Spanish, and be interested in the goals of the organization.

French Club Had Record Membership

Le cercle Francais, the Woodlawn High School French Club, boasted this year of having its largest number of members in the club's history at Woodlawn.

"We were so pleased at the number of students interested enough in learning more about the French people, culture, customs, and the use of the French language, who signed up to be in French Club this year," said Mrs. Felicitia Ross, who is from France herself.

The total number of Le cercle Francais members this year was 104. They met on the first Wednesday of each month and heard talks and discussed different facets of French living.

December 19 was the date of the annual Inter-lingual Christmas party in which the three language clubs of Woodlawn, the French, Spanish, and Latin clubs, participated.

and to become familiar with past happenings which related to the topic.

Debate Club Had Record Number Members

Providing a common meeting ground for debaters and individual event contestants, the Woodlawn Debate Club had a year filled with not only hosting a tournament with schools from Louisiana, Texas, and Arkansas, but also participating in a great number of tournaments.

Various tournaments attended were at the University of South Louisiana, Robert E. Lee High School in Houston, Loyola University, Louisiana Tech, Centenary College, Northeast Louisiana State College, and Northwestern State College, and Nat-chitoches High School.

Creative Writing Club Presented Play

"Christmas is beautiful!" exclaimed Jessica, a little girl of the late 1900's who knew, in the midst of poverty, the true meaning of Christmas and taught it to her bitter elders.

Members wrote, directed, and presented the play, "Christmas Is Beautiful," to residents of the Guest House in a Christmas program.

Other projects were making a poster for the Byrd game, holding a school-wide writing contest, and publishing the "Scroll," the organization's yearly publication.

JML Girls Volunteer Time To Patients

Running errands for nurses, serving lunches to patients, and generally making the patients more comfortable and cheerful were a few of the duties of the Junior Medical League hospital volunteers.

"Acquainting girls with hospital work in the hopes that they will be interested later in entering one of the health careers is our over-all goal," said Miss Janet Kyser, JML sponsor.

Volunteers worked at the Willis Knighton Hospital and Doctors Hospital during the week and on weekends.

After working one hundred hours they are awarded the privilege of wearing the official Junior Medical League cap.

The girls enjoyed all aspects of the work, but especially making the elderly patients more cheerful and comfortable.

Junior Medical League volunteer, Liz Kunce, wheeled this patient out of the hospital after she was discharged. JML members gain experience in hospital activities through weekly service which helps them to decide on their future careers.

Student Workers Benefited Castle

First thing in the morning, every morning, the student office "brownies" began their daily tasks by picking up absentee cards from all rooms. After being typed and mimeographed by attendance secretary Mrs. Opal Garner, first-period workers then delivered the morning sheet to the classes. Students who worked in the office answered the telephone and intercom, ran errands, distributed morning and afternoon sheets, located students when needed, and took messages.

Two of this year's office workers were special counselor's assistants. These girls served as receptionists for the counselors, aided with paper work, alphabetized cards, signed out college bulletins to students, and helped in the general office when needed.

Students who volunteered to aid in the cafeteria helped with the dessert, sandwich line, and hot-lunch lines, replenishing the counters when necessary. Under the direction of cafeteria manager Mrs. Sybil Thompson, these Castlites helped the lunch program run smoothly.

Mrs. Sybil Thompson, Cafeteria Manager, helped promote Christmas spirit through attractive holiday decorations.

Library Assistants Shelve Periodicals

Service . . . both to the two librarians and to the students at Woodlawn.

Handling 120 periodicals by checking them into the library, keeping the current ones ready for readers, and chronologically placing older copies in order on the storage shelves were just a few of the library assistants' jobs.

They also reshelved books, made out library fine notices, took books to classrooms, helped make and change the bulletin board displays, checked students in and out of the library, and put the newspapers on the racks.

Giving up their study hall period each day, these students do their share in helping the Castle.

RIGHT: Shelving books are library workers Sharon Santos, Mary Yarbrough, and Barbara Wedgeworth, who have assisted the school librarians for three years, while junior Debbie Speed (right) has worked for two years.

Audio-Visual Aids Add Life To Castle

Through the use of record players, movie projectors, tape recorders, and educationally approved films and tapes, classroom subjects were daily made more interesting at the Castle.

Teachers could use these aids by checking out the desired equipment and could thus better portray and illustrate the points they were trying to get across.

It has been found, often to the delight of both teachers and students, that some aspects of various subjects can often be more completely covered and more thoroughly understood when listened to on a record or tape-recorder or viewed on film.

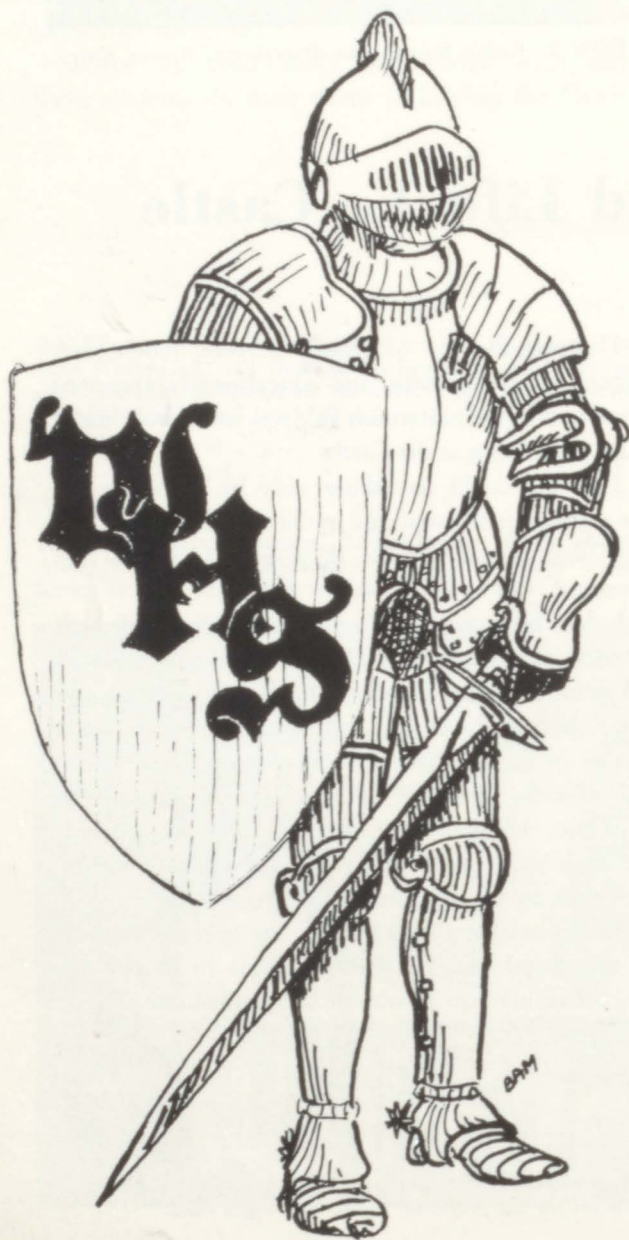

Under the guidance of Mrs. Odessie Frisch, the assistants of the Audio-Visual Aids Department did their share in bringing life and educational enrichment to the curriculum of the Castle.

These assistants took care of the operational part of the visual aids by showing films in classrooms and operating tape recorders and projectors.

WHS's 1967 Homecoming Court was presented at halftime at the game which gave Castlites their third district title in a row.

Marty Godwin Reigns Over '67 Homecoming

Before a capacity crowd of thousands, the 1967 Woodlawn Homecoming Court was presented at the Captain Shreve Stadium. Not only was it Homecoming, but the Knights were battling for the District Championship.

Marty Godwin, dressed in the traditional white suit, reigned as Woodlawn's eighth Homecoming Queen. Among the maids were seniors, Cindy Vascoe, Joyce Wilcox, Sheri Parnell, and Barbara Richardson. Junior class maids Linda Dahmer, Melissa Hopkins, and Shirley Rushing were also presented through the Castle doors with their Knight escorts from the class of '67.

Representing the sophomore class were Becky

Moore and Kathy Buckner.

Capturing a terrific victory over the Bossier Bearcats, the exuberant group of WHS students traveled to the Convention Hall on the river front for the annual Homecoming Dance. Being the first Woodlawn dance held at the Convention Hall, the event was even more exciting. The "Gripping Force", a well-known band in the South, played for the Knights.

The theme of the '67 Homecoming activities was "The Impossible Dream". Our dream definitely came true when the Homecoming game ended with Woodlawn claiming the District 1-AAA Championship.

The "Gripping Force", provided the music for the 1967 Homecoming Dance after the Knights' victory over the Bossier Bearcats.

Knights Awarded Accolade At Pageant

"Some Enchanted Evening", the theme of this year's Pageant of the Accolade, truly described the night of February 23 for those who attended and joined in with the festivities of the Pageant and the following dance, the Knight's Ball.

Huge flowers of red, green, yellow, and blue adorned the stage as the court attendants, the ladies in gowns of cerise, were presented and advanced to their places of honor.

King Eric Johnson and Queen Joyce Craft, amid this setting of pageantry and to the strains of "Exodus", were then presented to the royal court and honored guests. Queen Joyce, active in many school activities, was also a cheerleader and was voted to be the 1967-68 Miss Woodlawn. King Eric, also active in school activities, was a halfback on the football team and was elected "Mr. Woodlawn" this year.

Three senior knights, for their service, valor, and loyalty to the school, were awarded the Accolade of Knighthood, the greatest honor possibly bestowed on a knight, by King Eric. Those knighted were Bobby Leach, Mike Morgan, and Randy Stevens. Queen Joyce, attired in pure white, then signified this honor by draping a red sash over each knight's shoulder.

Following the knighting ceremony, the court and guests were entertained by several talent acts—dancing, singing, and baton twirling.

After the Pageant, many of those attending drove out to the American Legion Clubhouse at Cross Lake, for the Knight's Ball. The Clubhouse was transformed into a land of enchantment; clusters of flowers dangled from the ceiling along with birds of paradise. Centered on the tables were floral arrangements.

The "Elysian Fields", a popular rock group, provided the dance music.

Melanie McLain and Sarah Adams served as train bearers while Greg Quinn acted as Court Jester for pageant royalty, Eric Johnson and Joyce Craft.

As an affiliate member of the National Forensic League, Woodlawn has scored 2,200 points in this year's competitions, marking an all-time high in the school's history. Another achievement of the group was the hosting of the school's second annual Forensic Tournament. This event featured many visiting dignitaries and saw many of Texas and Louisiana's leading orators involved in competition.

Numbered among the group's other honors in the field of competition was winning top honors at Arlington, Tex. and Lafayette, La. The group has also garnered sweepstakes trophies at Northeast State College in Monroe and Loyola University at New Orleans. Winning victories at these events were Dick Thompson, Mary Nell Sanders, David Leagan, Gary Hayes, Kirk Sanford, David Waddell and Sherry Buckner.

Climaxing the year for the organization was its annual May banquet at Cross Lake and the final 'quote' burning party at which all material written for competition disappears in a cloud of smoke and flame.

Knights — Part Of Mythical 51st State

Several Woodlawn students traveled to the LSU campus in Baton Rouge in August to take part in Pelican State. These students were selected because of their initiative, leadership abilities, scholarship and personality.

Pelican State is a mythical 51st state with its own constitution, statutes, and ordinances. The citizens of this state organize their own city, parish, and state for a duration of nine days. By using their own law enforcement agencies and courts, they introduce and argue their own bills in a legislature and administer justice. They elect their own officials by a regular election procedures.

Leadership Delegates Learned At LSU

Kathy Littlejohn and Mary Bindo spent ten days in June attending the Leadership Conference on the L.S.U. campus. They gained valuable experience in planning pages for the 1968 yearbook.

Ten senior Knights represented Woodlawn at the annual Leadership Conference held during two sessions at Louisiana State University (Baton Rouge) last June.

Classes in newspaper, yearbook, speech, library, and recreation were held twice daily in campus buildings.

The newspaper division held seminars on fundamentals of news writing; a highlight of this group was the publication of the conference newspaper.

Cropping pictures effectively, planning yearbook pages, and writing interesting cutlines were some of the ideas dwelled upon in the yearbook division.

Daily recreational activities were planned and carried out by the recreation department. The programs consisted of such activities as a talent show, dance, game night, swim party, and a picnic.

Delegates learned a lot, not only in their respective sessions, but also about LSU and college life in general.

Dan Kelly Heads National Honor Society

BELOW: Mrs. Jan Green, National Honor Society sponsor, aids the organization in building character and good leadership.

As an honorary organization, National Honor Society seeks to recognize those students who excel not only in academics but also in service to the school, in leadership, and in character as well. Being chosen for membership in this society is one of the greatest honors that can be bestowed upon a student at Woodlawn. These students not only must maintain a 3.0 average, but also participate in service projects.

Thirty-five Woodlawn members have maintained a B average from the ninth grade and these students are involved in every plan of campus life. Wherever work is being done, they are represented.

As an honorary organization, National Honor Society does not undertake school profits. But the members themselves do participate in other school activities.

Quill And Scroll Inducts Journalists

Quill and Scroll, a national honor society for high school journalists, selects its members by the quality and quantity of work they have done for a school publication. This organization recognizes outstanding ability and contributions in and to the field of journalism. The Woodlawn Chapter of Quill and Scroll attempts to recognize individuals for their own talents and abilities. They must maintain a high scholastic average, be recommended by the advisor, and meet the requirements of the Quill and Scroll Society.

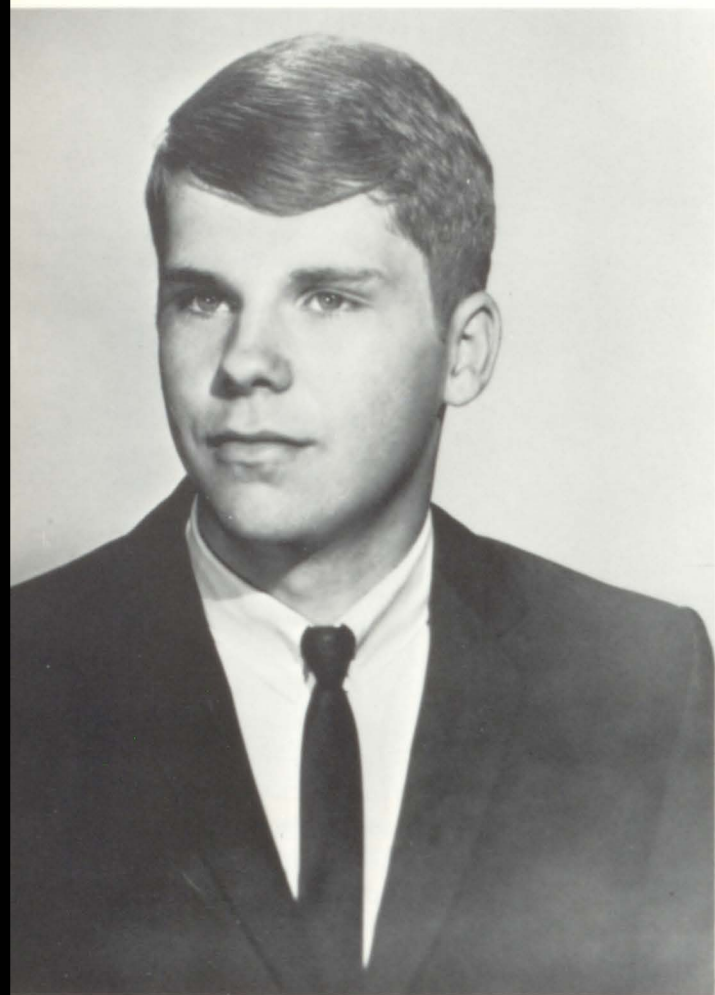

Members are selected from the Accolade or Herald business or editorial staffs and from the Football Program Ad Staff.

Mrs. Dene Ferguson, advisor, and the officers plan for the spring induction of new Quill and Scroll members.

OFFICERS: Dale Holland, President; Gayle Wilkening, Treasurer; Vicki Carter, Vice President; Kathy Littlejohn, Program Chairman; Mary Bindo, Secretary.

Through the International Christian Youth Exchange Program, Mike Adams was able to complete his high school education in Moudon, Switzerland.

TOP: The snowy countryside provided an excellent scene for the teaching of skiing. Among courses taken by Mike in school, were skiing and motorcycling.

Castlite Attended School In Europe

One of the various spots visited by Mike during his tour of Paris, France, was the Eiffel Tower.

Serving as Woodlawn's first exchange student to a foreign country was Mike Adams. He was completing his senior year at Moudon, Switzerland. Among the twelve courses in which Mike was enrolled were French, German, History, English, Geography, Skiing, Trigonometry, and Motorcycling. After school was out at Easter, Mike traveled to Germany for three months of study and work. Upon returning to the United States, he will enter Louisiana State University to major in Foreign Languages.

Mike was staying in the home of Doctor Charles Bugnon and his family. Upon arrival in Europe, Mike left with his new family to tour Italy for seven weeks before beginning the school year. During the year, a documentary film was completed on the life of Doctor Bugnon, in which was included Mike's comments on Shreveport and Woodlawn.

French Student Spent Year At Castle

Sponsored by the International Christian Youth Exchange Program, Jean Sournies came to the Castle from Martinique, France.

Public school was a new experience to Jean, as previously he had attended all parochial schools; hearing the English language continuously was another "obstacle" to overcome.

While living with Rev. and Mrs. James L. Adams,

Jean also learned to drive and obtained his license. He was made an honorary attendant at the Accolade Pageant, acting as a page escort.

He especially enjoyed giving talks and speeches to various organizations—school and city—and church groups. According to Jean, he liked the American family life and the rather lenient attitude of adults toward teenagers.

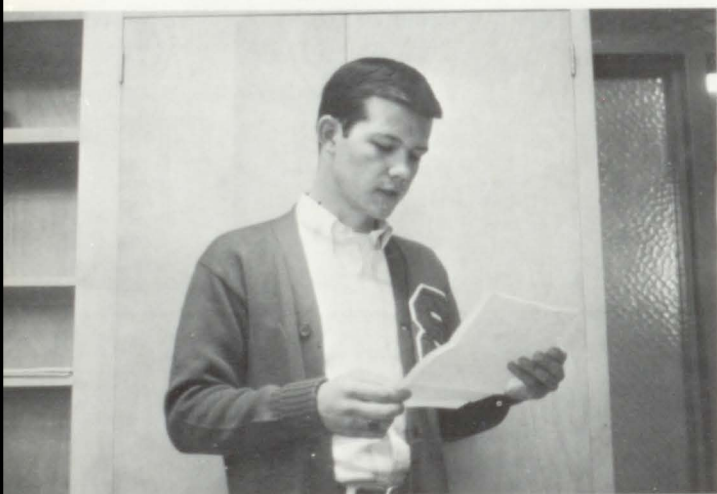

Recipients of this year's "Pat 'Em on the Back" awards were Sheri Parnell and Byron Garner. Sherri was Colonel of the ROTC Sponsors, Chaplain of the National Honor Society, Student Council Senator, and Key Club Sweetheart. Byron served as Interact Club President, a member of the National Honor Society, Science and Math Club, and the French Club.

Being chosen by the Shreveport Sertoma Club as the outstanding American History Student at Woodlawn was one of the many outstanding honors received by Lynne Barney. Lynne has served as a member of the National Honor Society and Football Program Ad Staff, ROTC 1st Lieutenant, Leadership Conference Delegate, and Pelican State Alternate.

Knights Win Honors In Various Fields

As Vice President of the Louisiana Junior Classical League, Dale Holland officiated at board meetings, and formed committees. Dale served as Sports writer for the Herald, President of the Quill and Scroll, Pelican State Delegate, and a member of the National Honor Society.

In the competition for the National Champion Junior Showman for 1968, Raynelle Johnson, a junior this year, traveled to New York to show her champion Afghan Hound. Only thirty-two participants were chosen from the United States and Canada to compete.

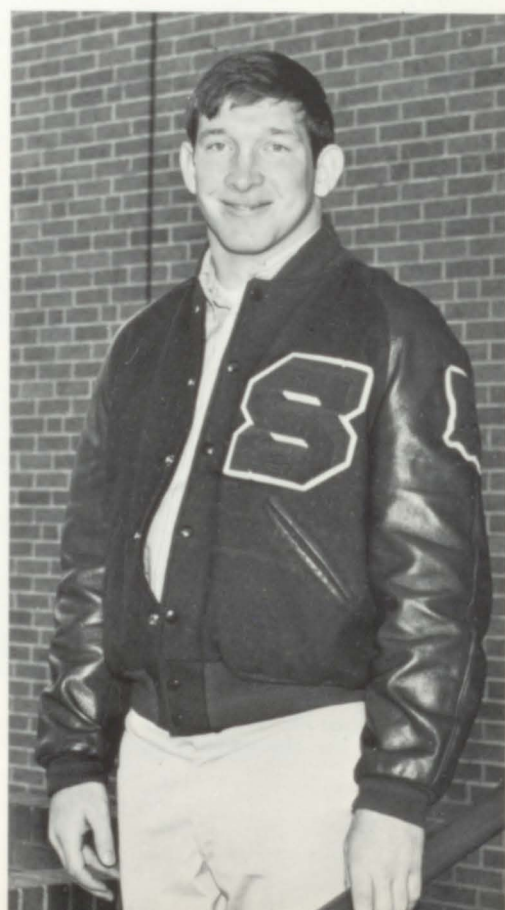

ALL-DISTRICT: Mike Morgan, Jerry Childress, Joe Ferguson, Roger Poole, Randy Stephens. Not shown: Ernie Liverman, All-City.

Knights Copped Highest Football Honors

Joe Ferguson, quarterback for the Knights, won several honors during the 1967 season. Among these were All-Prep, All-South, All-State, and All-City.

Senior Knight, Roger Poole gathered many honors during his last year which included All-Prep, All-State, All-District, and All-City.

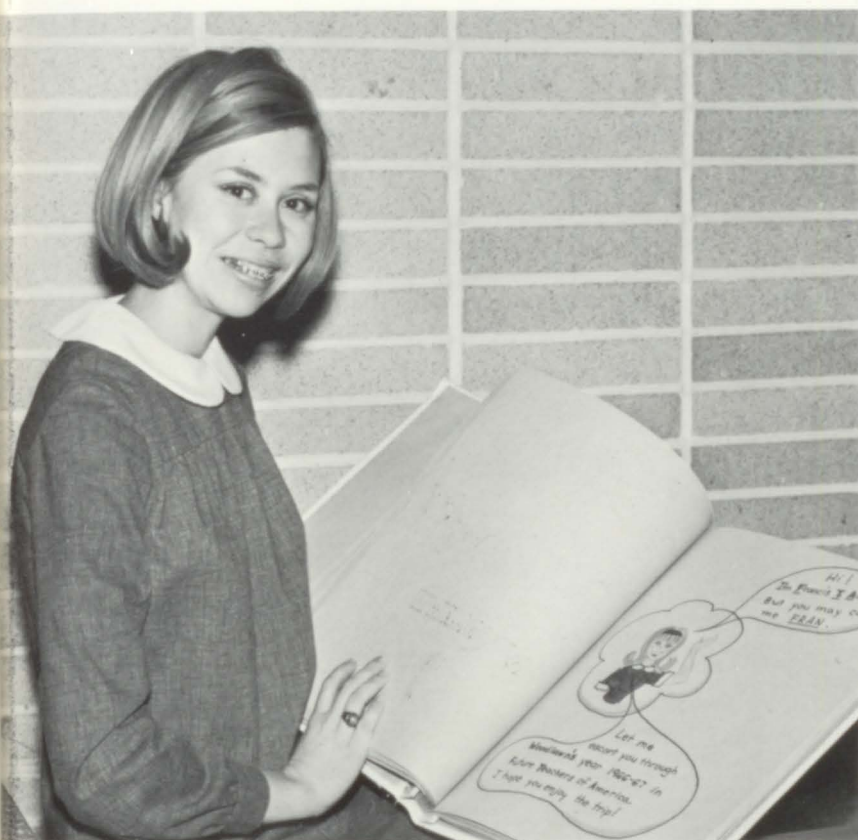

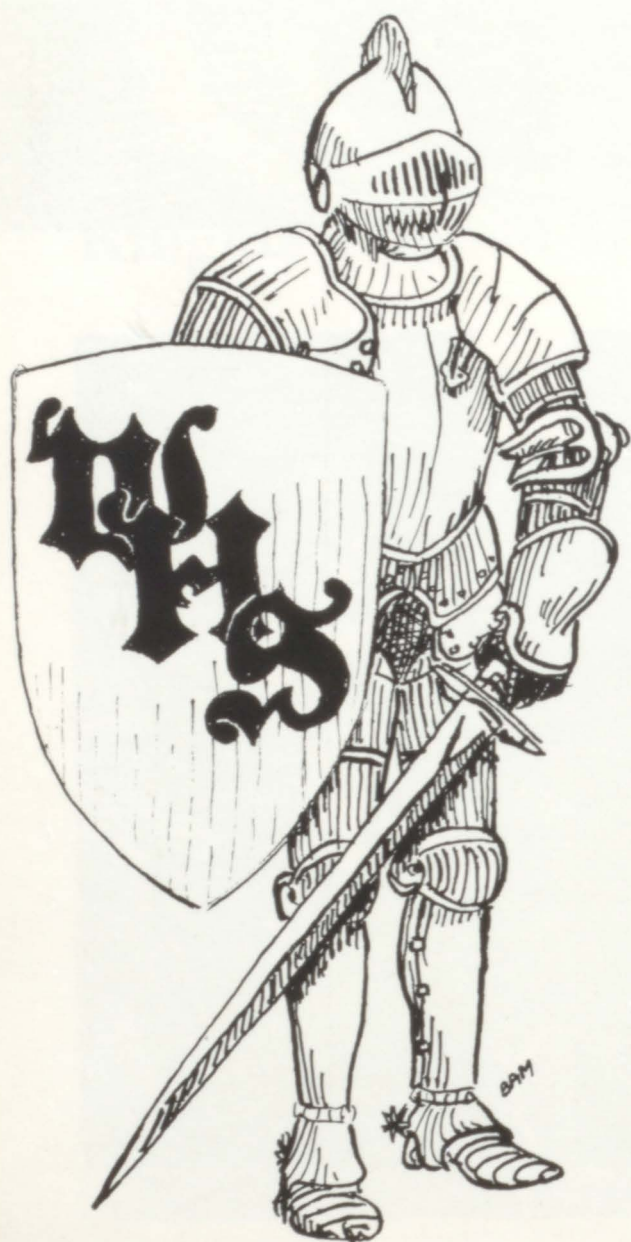

Seniors Noted For Leadership

RIGHT: Pam Heistand, selected to receive the Good Citizen Award from the Pelican Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution this year was selected on the basis of her friendliness, dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

LOWER LEFT: President of District Four of the Future Teachers Association, Betty Cagle presided over all the district meetings. Woodlawn's scrapbook won Second Place in the state FTA scrapbook contest for the 1966-67 school year.

LOWER RIGHT: Symbolizing truth, honor, and courage was Sir Knight. Chosen to represent WHS was Dan Kelly. Dan also served as Student Council Senator, National Honor Society President, and Spanish Club Treasurer.

STUDENT LIFE

Campus Life Combines Studying, Planning, Competing, And Relaxing

Taking a few minutes from their busy schedules, Mary Vance, Joyce Craft, and Kathy Stephenson planned Christmas cards for the enjoyment of the elderly.

RIGHT: Relaxing from a busy day at school, many students had a chance to catch up on school news on their way home.

BELOW: Preparing her research paper for its final draft, Pam Heistand typed footnotes before starting on the body of the paper.

It's a quiet life, and a busy life filled with different sights and different sounds. A life that begins with an early morning flag raising and ends in late afternoon after a student has maneuvered through a maze of whirling activity. WHS is a place for the quiet and busy life that is seen through the eyes of more than two thousand people.

These people were the basic ingredient in making the quiet and busy life of WHS—people with places to go and things to do—people who just sat and daydreamed. People who filled their lives with classes, meetings, ballgames, and dances.

As these people lived their lives they made their memories. Some were happy and exciting. Others were sad and heart-breaking. Whether his memories were happy or sad, exciting or heart-breaking, a Woodlawn Knight turned his eyes to the future with its promises and hope.

ABOVE: Ronnie Bridges was hauled down by a couple of Byrd defenders.

BELOW: David Thompson and Carl Tyler take a few minutes for study.

ABOVE: Taking Home Economics proved useful in the long run for Becky Bigby as she added the finishing touches to her Homecoming suit.

TOP RIGHT: Frank LeBue gave the castle a thorough check before it was sent to the stadium for the presentation of the Homecoming court.

Participation in debate tournaments gave students an increased knowledge in governmental affairs.

LEFT: Forrest Fairley smiled as a fellow student commented on his presentation in speech.

BELOW: Joe Ferguson and Roger Poole gave proof that it was skill and not luck that led the Knights to victory.

Knights Gave Evidence Of Increasing Knowledge And Skill

Rehearsing their parts in the school play were the cast of "The Curious Savage."

A friendly "Hello" for a fellow student was a common sound in the quadrangle during the changing of classes.

Knights Formed Lasting Friendships

Friendships between teachers and students, such as the one between Ernie Liverman and Mrs. Sylvia Adams were common among the Knights of WHS.

Life at WHS, whether commonplace or exciting, was almost visible by the outward appearance a student radiated in his movements on campus. A spirit of friendliness prevailed.

Heads huddled together over homework, a joke shared with a friend, a warm and sincere "Hello"—this was the friendliness. It gave directions to lost sophomores and a push to a stalled car. It is the all-day signing of Accolades, a wave of a hand in greeting, an open heart, and an open hand toward newcomers.

WHS has its own special form of friendliness, an enthusiastic one that extends far beyond the realm of the classroom. It is that feeling of pride and a sincere belief that WHS is not just a building but a body. A body that exists on the movements, vitality, and friendliness of all the students. When all parts of the body are working together, the body displays its parts with pride. And with pride WHS displays its Knights.

Pat Stephens stopped in the halls to lend a helping hand to Kathy Morse.

Keith Jones, Shirley Price, Mary Norris, and Fred Ebey caught up on the latest news around WHS during their lunch break.

RIGHT: Tommy Dark and Tommy Harris discussed homework problems on their way to their third period Chemistry class.

BELOW: Lunch seemed the almost perfect time to talk over problems.

Serving their community, Ronnie Bridges and Gary Smith helped the Red Cross to help others.

Larry Simmons took part in a demonstration given to all interested science and math students.

The "mod-look" in clothing swept through Woodlawn in the form of stripes, prints, and checks.

Extra Activities Interested Knights

It has often been said that the hope of tomorrow lies in the youth of today. Never before has the challenge been so great for leadership. Because we are entering a more complex world, the youth must possess keener minds and wider interests. Only through these outside interests can youth promise a brighter future.

WHS offered a variety of activities that were not connected with classroom work. Some of these programs sparked the interest of students, while others encouraged further study by students. Among the activities were science programs, tours of local manufacturing plants, safety programs, and community service programs. Programs such as these will prepare the leaders of tomorrow with the necessary knowledge of today.

Because of his interest in cars and how they run, Bruce Thorton took a course in auto mechanics.

Thomas Woodward and Bubba Ebarb found that electronics posed interesting problems that were often unsolved.

"South Pacific" Presented By Castlites

Hour after hour of constant rehearsing went into the popular production of "South Pacific."

Re-reading the script to make sure nothing was forgotten was Mr. Melvin Simmons, production supervisor.

Portraying the comical Luther Billis, Billy Rogers rehearsed his lines during play practice after school.

Art students gave freely of their time to prepare the stage for the annual Accolade Pageant.

Art Students Decorated For Pageant

RIGHT: Kathy Littlejohn checked to see that the decorations were in order and properly attached. BELOW: Students checked the wiring of the lights as well as the wiring of all stage props. All of the art work was done under the supervision of Mrs. Tommie Simmons.

ABOVE: After the three o'clock bell rang and classes dismissed for the day, the hall was left to slumber in silence. RIGHT: During classes the quadrangle was a quiet spot for friends to meet as they ran errands for their teachers.

Moments Of Silence Found At WHS

BOTTOM RIGHT: Surveying the office door, students could easily see a reflection of the silence which engulfed the quadrangle during class hours.

BELOW: A frequent sight to many office workers as they delivered afternoon sheets was the emptiness of the cross-walk during a rainy fifth period.

Concert Band Won

BELOW: Raymond Morrison sat quietly as Mr. Jennings gave last minute instructions before half-time.

During half-time at the Fair Park football game, the WHS Concert Band performed for near capacity crowds.

Many Awards For Outstanding Performances

The Marching and Playing Festival at Natchitoches, all regular season and state playoff football games, special assemblies, pep rallies, and the State Fair and Holiday-in-Dixie parades are usual sights for the band but—being named Louisiana's Honor Band at the Four States' Toastmasters' Association's Convention was a real honor and treat.

Mr. Jennings said of his band, "These are the hardest working group of young men and women I've ever instructed." His praise was justified by the top ratings received at the Solo and Ensemble Festivals and the Marching and Playing Festivals.

The "West Point" cut uniform consists of a royal blue coat with white crossbelts; the pants are blue-gray with a royal blue stripe along the side seams; and a nine-inch ostrich feather plume atop the gray vizor hat. The military style uniform is completed with sparkling white gloves and shoes.

Mr. Jennings, in his eighth year at Woodlawn, had the honor to be the director of six members of the All-State Band.

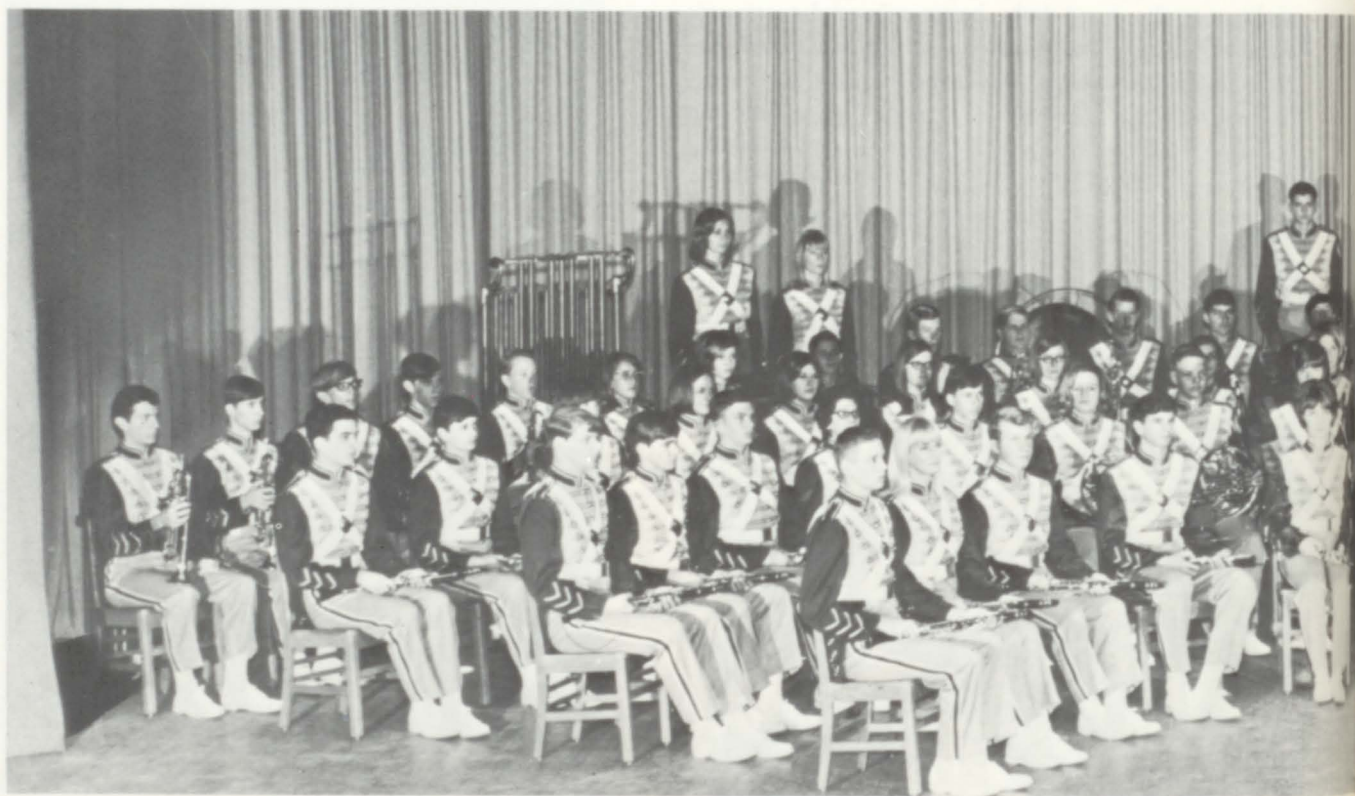

RIGHT: "Not even the cold, biting winds of Old Man Winter can stop my band", is how Mr. Jennings described the hard work of this year's much honored Concert Band.

Knights' Band And Stage Band Display School Pride Through Excellent Performances

Although the Stage Band is only in its fifth year at Woodlawn its roaring music of the big bands of the '30's is already a tradition in the Castle.

The excellence of the music performed by the band is based on the special selectivity of members and the hours spent after school practicing.

The uniform of the 1968 Stage Band consists of scarlet blazers with navy shields on the pocket, worn with navy slacks or skirts. These gay outfits added splendor to the music performed by the band.

Many clubs, conventions, and civic organizations, as well as the student body, enjoyed the band's lively performances.

The Knights' Band meets daily during fifth period when they work hard to improve their playing skills and techniques. This year they performed at football games, a spring concert, and traveled to Natchitoches to play in the Marching and Playing Festival.

This year the Knights Band had forty-two members. The members of this intermediate group hope to achieve their goal to be part of the Concert Band by practicing hard and learning the little things that make good music.

The band was described by Mr. Jennings as one that "could not be described by mere words alone. The exceptional work of this band is unbelievable."

LEFT: A frequent sight around D-5 were students practicing and rehearsing. If it were not for their extra efforts WHS's Band would not be the best band around.

BELOW: The half-time presentation of the Homecoming Court had the added trimmings of the Lancerettes and the Woodlawn High School Concert Band. The members of the royal Court walked through the gate formed by the members of the Band. Again this year the Band played "Pomp and Circumstance" while the Court was presented.

CONCERT CHOIR OFFICERS: President, Buddy Johnson; Vice President, Bobby Holloway; Secretary, Gayle Cook; and Treasurer, Betty Cagle.

LEFT: Accompanists for the 1968 Concert Choir were Susan Skinner, Karla Downs, and Barbara Strickland.

Voices Of Concert Choir Rang Through WHS's Hallowed Halls

Dressed in black peau de soie and black suits, Concert Choir members presented both a pleasing performance and a striking appearance.

Several members captured main roles in Woodlawn's third musical ever presented, "South Pacific", which was given to the public in late Spring.

Meeting daily during fifth period, these "musician-artists" strived to improve their singing ability, learn new techniques, methods of attaining these goals and achieve personal satisfaction in this art.

One of the highlights of the year was attending the annual Music Festival at Northwestern State College.

When asked how he felt about teaching this year's group of singers, Mr. Melvin Simmons, in his eighth year as director of the Castle's Concert Choir, replied, "It's always pretty much of a challenge to work with high school students in an art—they often become discouraged if they can't seem to succeed, or sometimes lose sight of their goal. This group of workers, though, has been exceptionally talented and hard-working. I am proud to have been their director, and am proud of their efforts and achievements."

LEFT: Mr. Melvin Simmons had devoted many hours to his choirs so that they might receive the exclamations of praise often heard at their concerts. Mr. Simmons has been at Woodlawn for eight years.

RIGHT: The skilled hands of the six accompanists who played for the WHS choirs were appreciated by both choirs.

ABOVE: Many hours of hard, hard, hard, practice makes a good ensemble excellent. This double quartet received a superior rating after many hours of work. Jennifer Walker, Joy Wease, Janice Williams, and Sherre Gann harmonized with Bobby Holloway, Bubby Johnson, Glen White, and Robert Scott.

RIGHT: Days prior to Festival the choir chose the music which they would sing. Then followed many hours of rehearsals. Afterwards the rewards were worth the choir's time and efforts.

Mixed Voices Of Choir Entertained Many

Begun seven years ago, the popularity of the Girls' Choir continues to grow, and the number of participants has increased steadily over the years.

Meeting daily in the music room during third period, they continuously strived for both musical perfection and personal satisfaction by singing songs varying from old folk tunes to love ballads to popular pop songs.

To them, one of the most exciting events of the year is the much anticipated Music Festival held annually at Northwestern State College, where their ensembles have continuously received superior ratings.

"To keep up with the past choirs in quality is a hard job, but these girls have done a fine job; I'm proud of them," said Mr. Simmons, Instructor.

Woodlawn Becomes First District 1-AAA Team To Take Three Consecutive Titles

The 1967 Woodlawn Knights' football team surprised many opponents and astounded pre-season critics as they marched to their third consecutive 1-AAA district title. With only six lettermen returning for the 1967 season the Knights had been predicted to win only three contests.

After the Knights dropped a 13-12 loss to the Indians of Fair Park, it appeared that the critics had guessed correctly. Spurred on by defeat, the Knights began an accelerated program of hard work and practice, which resulted in a 10-2 record for the season. The Knights ended "the winning season that wasn't supposed to be" when they lost to Holy Cross of Baton Rouge in semi-final play.

In his second year as the Knights' head mentor, A. L. Williams saw his team break many records. Of these were All State Quarterback Joe Ferguson's passing records: most completions in one season with 198 of 383 attempts, most touchdowns in one game with six against arch-rival Byrd, and the most passing yardage in one season with 2,576 yards. Coach Williams also led his team to become the first 1-AAA team to ever win or share the district title for three consecutive years.

While placing two men on the All-State team, the Knights also put five men on both the All-District and All-City teams. The team awarded thirty-seven letters with sixteen coming back for the 1968 season.

Woodlawn has become the "winningest" team in 1-AAA history with a winning percentage of .847. The Knights have been in the state playoffs seven of their eight years of eligibility.

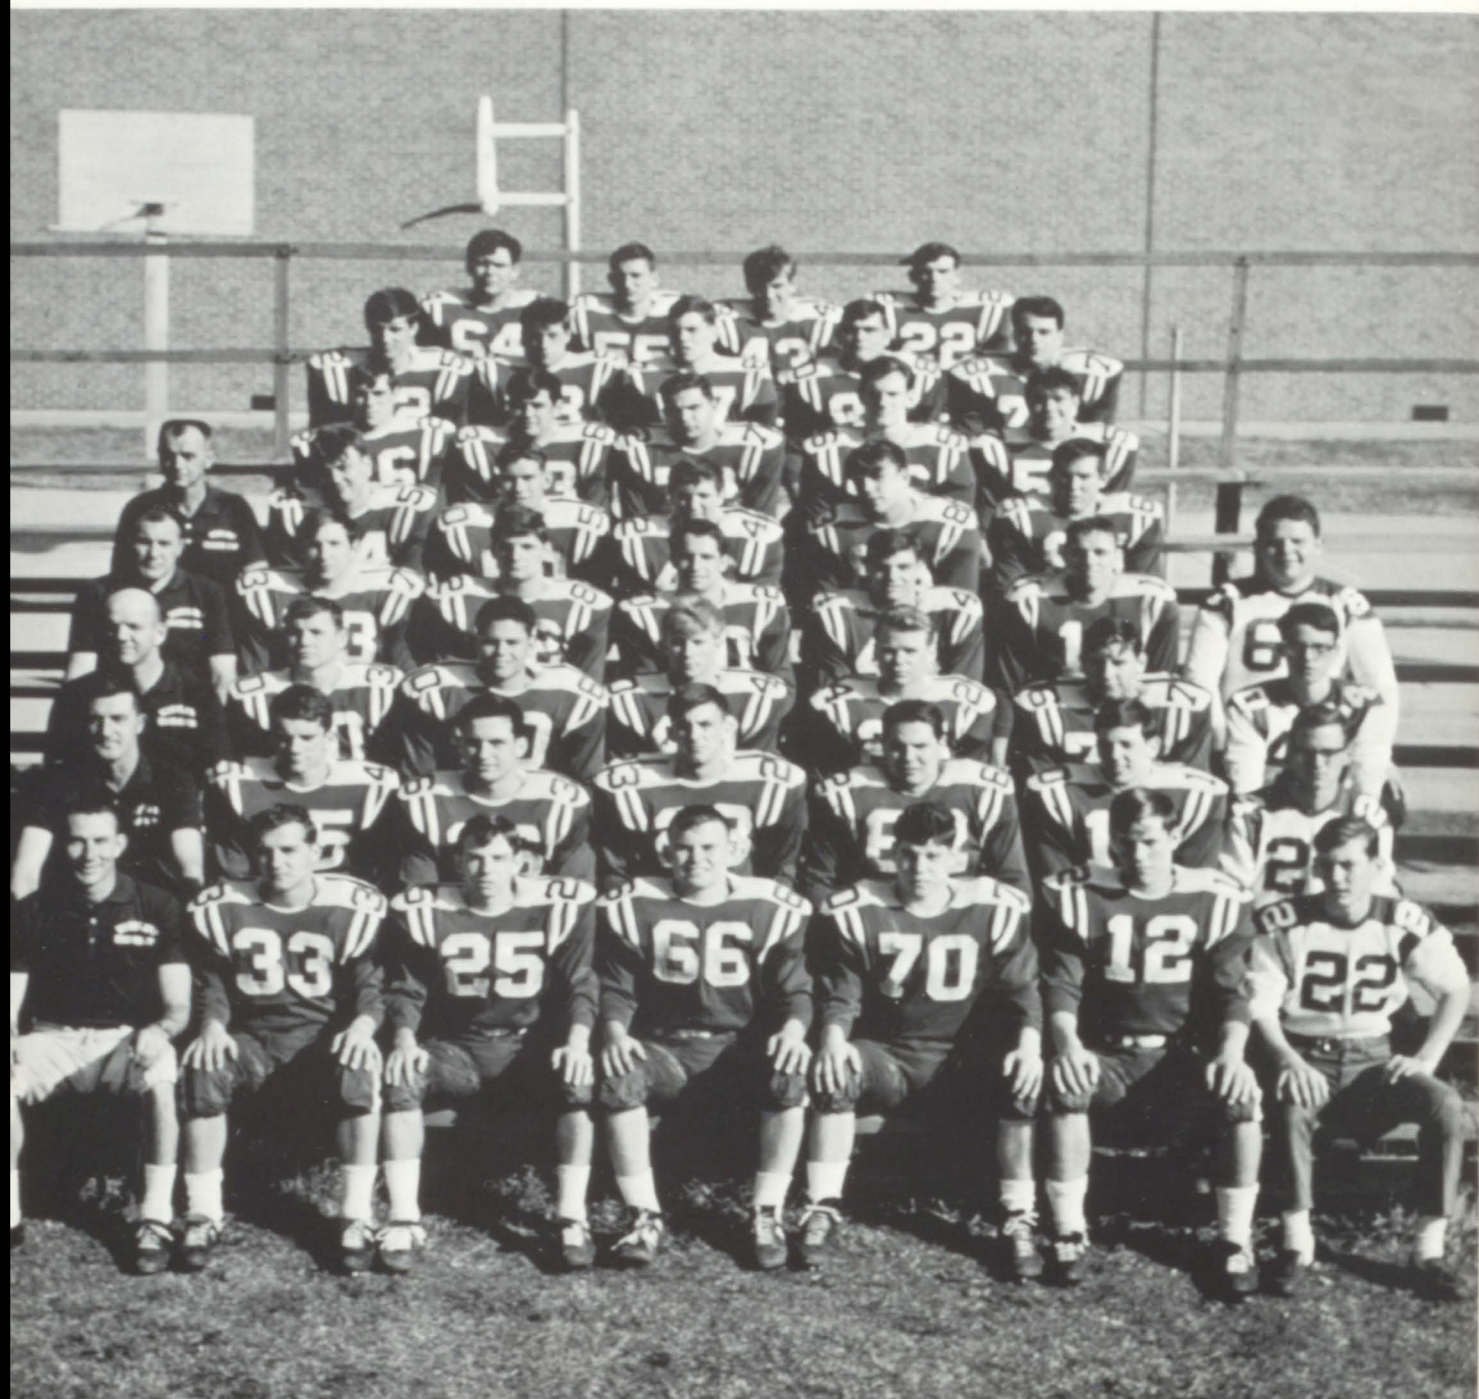

Head coach A. L. Williams is carried off the field by two of his players after a 40-6 romp over Byrd.

One quarter later the Knights were two touchdowns in the lead on another pass from Ferguson to Ronnie Bridges for 212 yards. Ferguson added the PAT after touchdown and gave Woodlawn a 13-0 halftime lead.

After three interceptions the Knights' offense began to weaken and Neville suddenly jumped into a 20-13 lead on two runs of 64 and 34 yards by quarterback Bill McSherry and one 46 yard run by Mike Weaver.

The Knights tried in vain to score and went down with their second defeat.

Knights Post 7-12 Baseball Record

The Woodlawn Knights' baseball team led by Coach Jerry Adams posted a 7-12 record.

Predicted to win only four out of nineteen games, the sportswriters had to alter their ratings as Woodlawn finished their season with seven wins.

The Knights, led by three starting seniors, fought hard and played many fine games, one of them being a 2-1 loss to the eventual state champions, the Ruston Bearcats.

Steve Malcom led the Knights' pitching staff as he pitched the team to two one-hit victories over the Bossier Bearcats and the Airline Vikings.

"The inexperience of the majority of the players hurt us, but not as bad as had been predicted; I was proud of the team," said Coach Adams.

Acie Griffin rounded third and went in to score for the Knights in the district contest with the Bastrop Rams.

All-City centerfielder Mike Turner was thrown out at first in the district contest with the Bastrop Rams.

LEFT: Coach Jerry Adams did an admirable job in coaching the Knights to a 7-12 season.

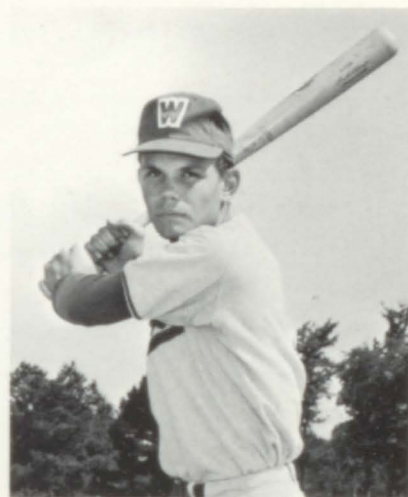

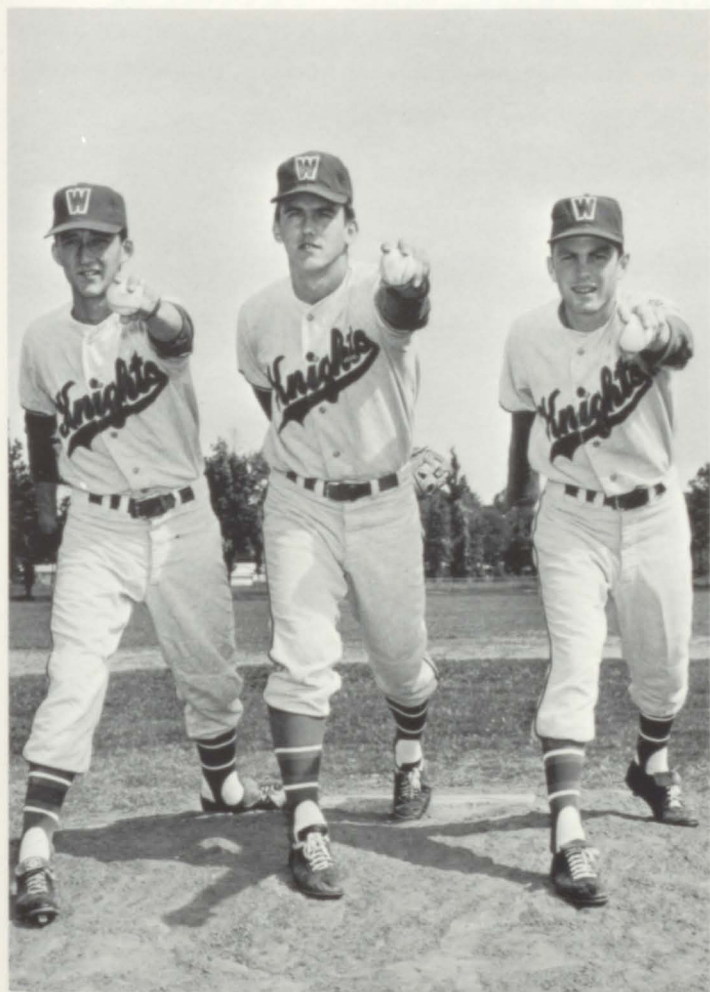

One Knight On All-City Baseball Team

Elbert Norton proved to be a threat to the opposing team for his ability to steal bases as he did in the game with the Rams.

Talking with the members of the team, Coach Jerry Adams is telling them of his plans for the oncoming district game.

Senior letterman Bruce Williamson was one of Knights' main hitters. He hit one home run against Ruston to give the Knights the lead but they couldn't hold it.

LEFT: A sacrifice bunt by Ronnie Bridges sent Elbert Norton in to score for Knights in the Bastrop Rams game.

Three Lettermen Led Knights' Attack

A Bastrop player is thrown out at first base. Receiving the throw was first baseman Bill Thrash in the district contest.

Golf Team Plays In Three Tournaments

The 1966-67 golf team coached by W. B. Calvert compiled a record of four wins and ten losses in their league standing.

The team played in three tournaments placing seventh in a Tri-State tournament, sixth in a City Meet and twelfth among thirty-seven entries in the District Tournament.

Three lettermen who formed the nucleus of the team were David Creswell, Pat Holley, and Keith Alexander.

Consisting of mostly juniors the golf team is expected to do very well in the 1968 season.

Knights' Performance Broke Many Records

Coach Ken Ivy, in his second season as head basketball coach, produced the finest team in Woodlawn's history. The varsity team posted a 25-4 season, as well as establishing eight new school records. Among the records broken were the most points in the game as Woodlawn trounced the Northwood Falcons 104-43. Ken Liberto's record was another broken. Ricky Hayes, Woodlawn outstanding guard, passed Liberto's mark in the game against West Monroe.

Led by only six Seniors this team was backed by many Juniors who gained valuable experience for next year's season.

The WHS hardwood team won more games this season than any other team in the Castle's history. One of the Knights' most thrilling moments came when they won the Fair Park Tournament, which was their first tournament won since the opening of the school.

B Team Recorded 20-4 Season

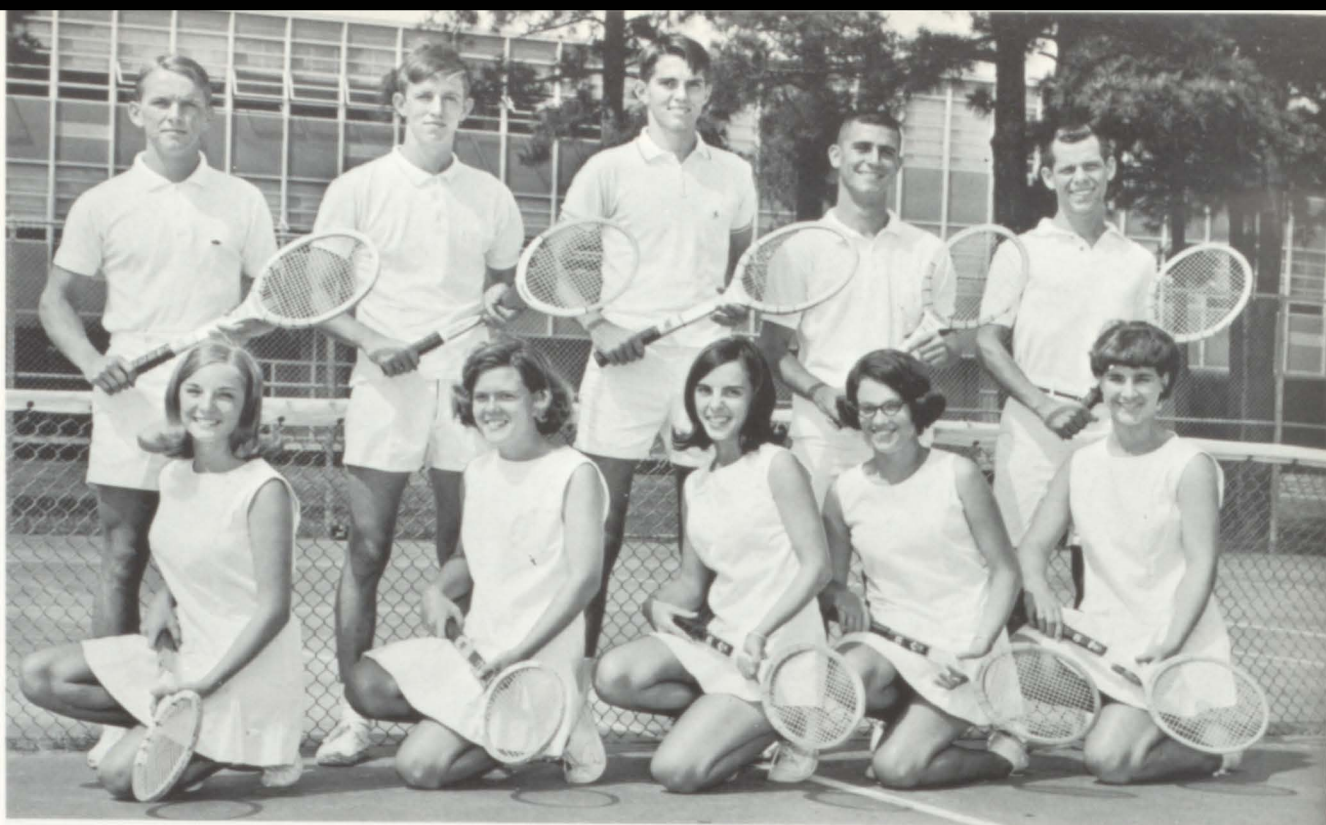

The Knights' B Team, supervised by Coach Ken Ivy, enjoyed their most successful season at the Castle by compiling a season total twenty-four. Playing before all varsity contests, these Knights continually gave exciting, well-performed games. The leading scorer for the squad was Wayne Barrett. Wayne averaged thirteen points per game. Guard Gary Green and Forward Dwayne Sandifer held a close second place.

Opening the cage season with a run of four straight victories, the B Team was dethroned from power by Captain Shreve and Ruston only to come back with seven straight wins, a loss to Byrd by nine points, and six more victories culminating with a slim defeat by Airline.

Coach Ivy has trained these players to fill the positions left vacant by Senior varsity players. According to his statistics the up-coming team will probably surpass all others.

Tennis Team Amasses Record Of 10-2

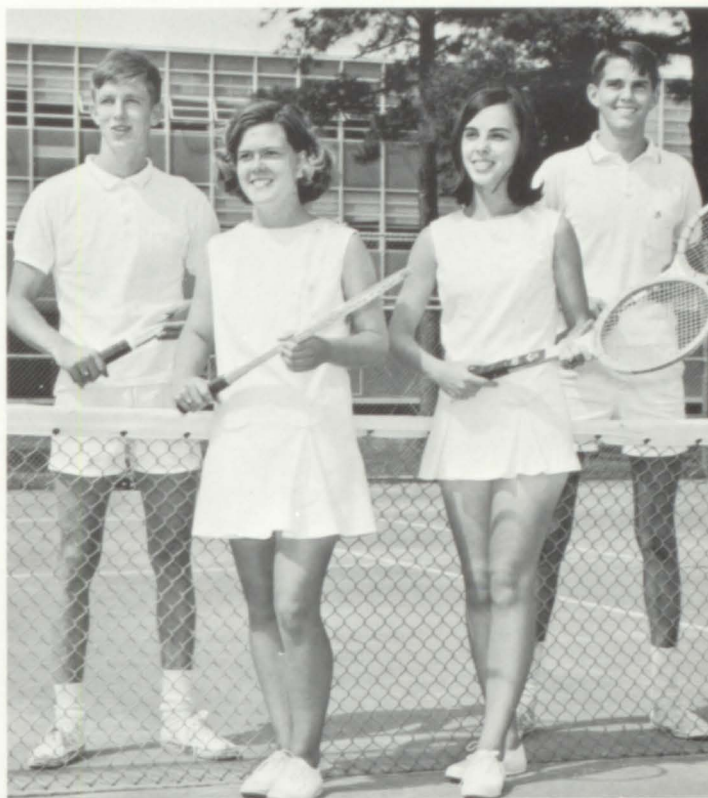

Coach Ken Ivy, examining a broken tennis racket, saw his tennis team complete the season with a 10-2 record.

Amassing a set of very respectable statistics, the 1967 tennis team coached by Ken Ivy won ten matches while dropping only two. The team won all its traveling games and beat all district foes except Byrd. Byrd beat the Knights twice giving the Ironclads their only two losses of the season.

In his second year as coach of the team, Coach Ivy saw eight of ten lettermen graduate, leaving only two lettermen to guide an inexperienced 1968 team. With much desire to practice, the new team will try to improve on their winning record.

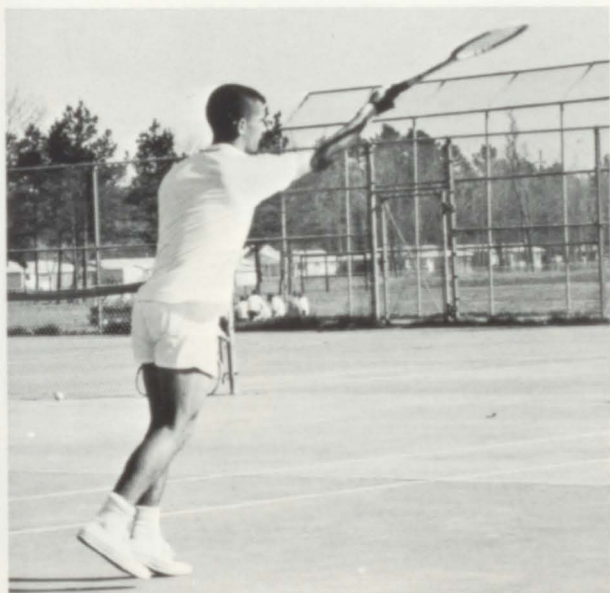

Lettermen for the 1967 team were Doug Rimmer, Lonnie Shelton, Russell Knighton, Charles Darsey, Marty Nutt, Pat Wilson, Liz Peek, Donna Albritton, Maye Morrow and Amy Wilkinson. Marty Nutt and Amy Wilkinson are the only returning lettermen for the 1968 season.

GIRLS' DOUBLES: Lix Peek and Maye Morrow, BOYS' DOUBLES: Lonnie Shelton and Doug Rimmer.

Junior letterman Marty Nutt put in many hours of hard practice after school trying to improve his form.

Lively Ones Set Strong Pace

"Two Bits, Four Bits, ..." just a few words used by the lively ones, set the pace for all pep assemblies, football games, basketball and baseball games. These six versatile girls started practicing their cheers early in June. Since then they have shared many hours of enthusiasm with all students.

Putting into practice all they learned during the summer, they took top honors at SMU. At the seminar they won a blue ribbon every day and returned with the spirit stick.

Their skill for arousing enthusiasm gave this year's football team another district title. Not only did the girls boost the morale of the Knights, they participated in the "Take State" pep rally at Airline High School in Bossier City.

With their spirit they boosted spirit!

Lancerettes Showed Spirit And Initiative

According to Miss Joyce Jordan and Miss Sandra Foster, Lancerette sponsors, there were two hundred and fifty-one girls in the pep squad this year. It has been stated that the group had more spirit and initiative than any Lancerette group in the history of WHS. The girls, all maintaining a required two point grade average, were proud to be listed as one of the largest pep squads in the state, if not the largest.

As a salute to the student body, the Lancerettes marched on to the field at Captain Shreve Stadium and formed the letters K-N-I-G-H-T-S. Added to this was a musical routine. From the ovation they received, the pep squad knew that they had been successful in their tribute.

Taking part in pep rallies, practicing routines, attending football and basketball games, and making posters kept the girls pretty busy. When they were not yelling at the basketball games, they were selling. There was always someone at the refreshment stand ready to serve Knight boosters.

The Lancerettes participated in many colorful parades: such as the State Fair Parade, the Holiday in Dixie Parade, and the Veterans' Day Parade. Practice for those parades seemed endless, but fun.

Climaxing a year of hard work and fun, the pepsters were honored with a banquet where new officers were installed.

Flagbearers Charlotte Veuleman and Pat Tynes display the banner that introduced the Lancerettes everywhere they went.

Spirited Competition Enjoyed By Girls

Basketball, softball, tennis, and badminton are a few of the healthful games that today's girls seldom find time for but really enjoy. Physical Education takes time for fun and an hour of spirited competition a day.

Most of the games involved are made up of teams. At the end of each six weeks, a tournament is held for the class teams. If two teachers are teaching the same game, the two classes have a tournament. These tournaments created much enthusiasm and excitement among the students.

Recreational games and creative dancing were also a part of the PE classes. Ping Pong, shuffle board, square dancing, and rhythmic exercise were offered to the girls this year.

For a six week period each gym class is required to take a course in general health or first aid.

LEFT: Many hours of fun were enjoyed by Cindy Vascoe in Mrs. Hervey's first period PE class.

BELOW: The development of skill and coordination was a main objective in Mrs. Fortner's Tumbling class.

Volleyball required the necessary teamwork stressed by the PE coaches.

P.E. Combined Activities With Health

Physical education was an important part of the modern program of general education for boys. It included physical activities and courses of study connected with the individual's health, safety, and recreation. Physical education gave the students important experience in living as members of groups, as well as individuals.

Formal drills in sports fundamentals were one of the features of the modern P.E. department. Another feature of physical education was the intramural competition between classes or sections of classes. This competition appeared in the form of gymnastics, basketball volleyball, track, and other sports.

For a period of six weeks the boys were required to take a course in health and safety. The study courses included the study of principles of healthful living, rules of safety in everyday life, and methods of first aid and lifesaving. Study courses also taught the accepted rules of courtesy and sportsmanship, an appreciation of outdoor life, and the cultivation of lifelong recreational interests.

LEFT: James Ragsdale combined the basic skills of golf with a strong arm which gave him good distance.

On rainy days, Coach Ivy found it necessary to change the dressing room into a gymnasium for exercises.

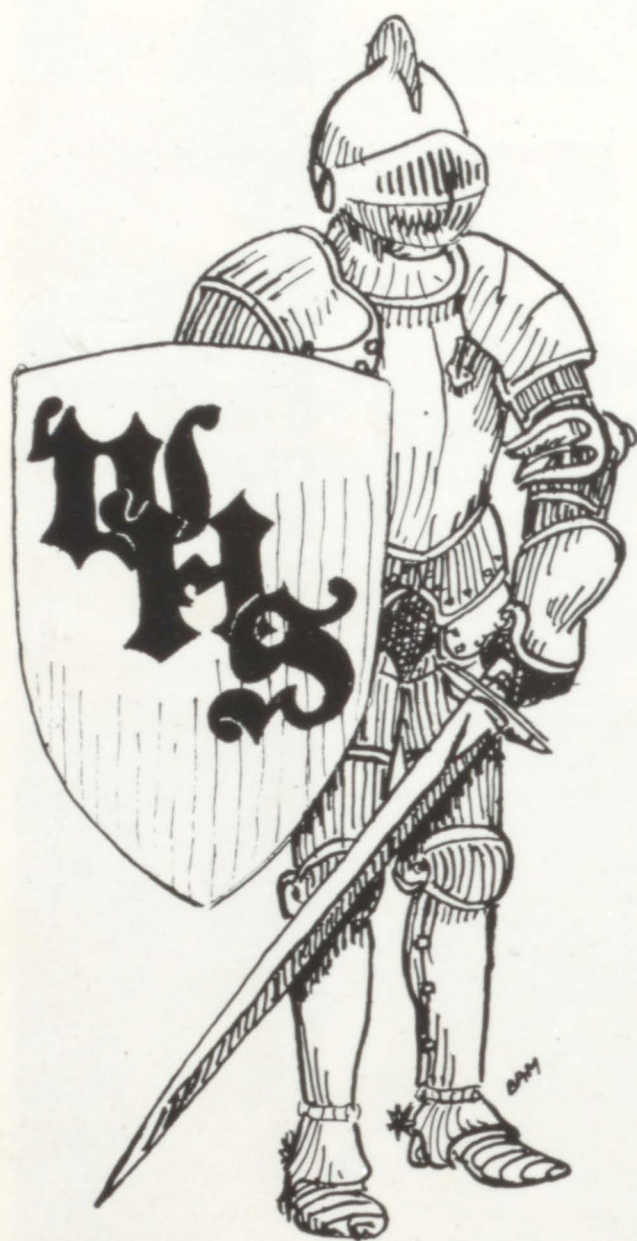

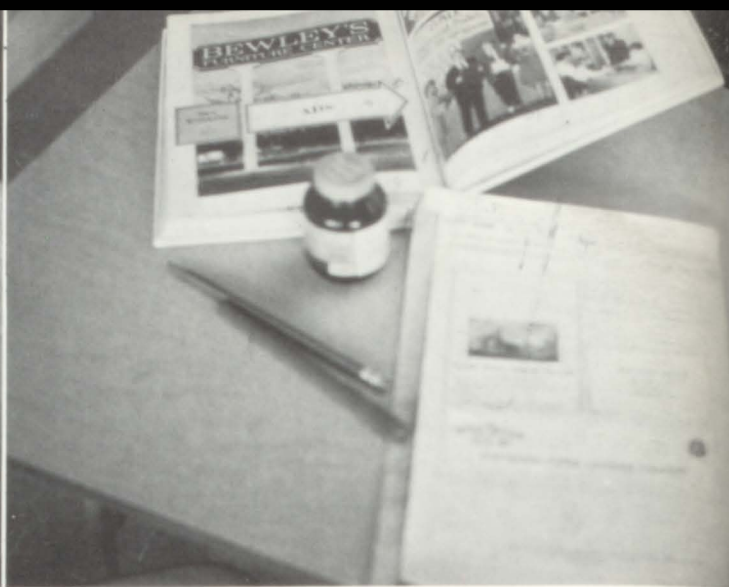

The ball was snapped and the game was under way. These boys enjoyed a game of touch-football during PE.

Basketball provided the necessary competition needed to promote good sportsmanship among team members.

And I shall thereupon
Take rest, ere I be gone
Once more on my adventure brave and new.

Editor Mary Bindo Finishes Work And Expresses Thanks

Now the 1968 Accolade is completed and is where it belongs—in your hands. We hope you enjoy your memory book, and that we have captured moments of the past year that are dear to you. Now with our job completed, there is time to draw a deep breath and really appreciate the people whose work made your book possible.

We thank Bruce Bamburg for the art work used on the division pages. He also deserves a “pat-on-the-back” for his superb job on the opening page. We also thank Mr. Bill McDaniel for spending hours upon hours taking and printing pictures for us. A special thank-you to Mr. W. R. Tatum, because when deadlines drew near he was ready and willing to give his time to the Accolade.

Last, but far from least, thanks to the faculty and to the students. Without you, there would be no Accolade. Thank you, everyone!
